HUSBAND IS SUSPECTED IN MURDER

Woman's Mutilated Body Found In Trunk at

Tragedy

OGDEN, Utah—(Associated Press)—The body of a young woman, the head nearly severed, was found in a trunk which reached Ogden Saturday aboard a Union Pacific train. The trunk was consigned to Weed, Calif., and had been shipped from Denver Friday, according to police report.

When the trunk was being transferred to a Southern Pacific train the baggage master noticed blood on the hinges and called the police.

In the dead woman's throat was stuffed a man's linen handkerchief which bore the initial "F." The body was neatly clad in a silk night gown and light silk underwear and was cut and bruised.

Dr. Roy Wilson, Ogden city physician, expressed the opinion that death had occurred some time early Friday, and that she had been choked to death and then her body mutilated. BLOODY FINGERPRINTS FOUND

DENVER, Colo.—(Associated Press)—Denver police Saturday sought to locate Fred Janssen for questioning in connection with the finding of the body of a woman in a trunk at Ogden, Utah, Saturday. They believe the body is that of the Belle Janssen of Denver, wife of the man sought.

Mrs. Janssen disappeared mysteriously Thursday and her husband pronounced she had been called to St. Louis, Pa., where a brother was ill. Janssen disappeared Friday, a few hours after a man answering his description checked the trunk containing the body to Weed, Calif., under the name of John J. Smith, Denver.

W. A. Rinker, chief of detectives, announced Saturday night his belief that the dead woman was Mrs. Janssen, who had been employed several years by a Denver department store. He said the police were without any clue to the whereabouts of Janssen.

Kenneth Robinson, assistant district attorney, left for Ogden to take charge of the investigation. Police reports from Ogden said the Utah authorities had found bloody fingerprints on the trunk and it was believed this might have an important bearing on the finding of the slayer. Friends and Mrs. Janssen had mentioned two aunts who lived in Allentown, Pa., but were unable to give their names.

TRUNK TAKEN TO HOTEL
According to a Denver expressman, he was called by a man who presented himself as Smith, Friday, and asked to haul a trunk from the Janssen apartments to a hotel. After another expressman was called, the trunk from the hotel to the station was checked the trunk to a ticket to Weed, Calif., and on the station records and endorsement on checks paid Janssen for services as a church janitor bear a striking resemblance, the police said.

The apartment occupied by the couple was found in disorder and the police announced they found a "red mark" on one of the carpets which they believe to be a blood-stain.

A Salvation Army driver called at the Janssen home Friday, in response to Janssen's request, and removed several of Mrs. Janssen's dresses, bedclothes and a suit case. Records at the Windsor Hotel showed that a man registered there Thursday night as "John J. Smith." Clarke said he paid two days hotel bill in advance. Then he disappeared. The police learned that Janssen had not been working for more than a month, having been discharged as church janitor. His neighbors said he was "nervous and erratic."

APOLOGY MADE BY LEONARD WOOD

Writes Letter Demanded by Jake Hamon's Daughter

CHICAGO—(Associated Press)—Olive Belle Hamon, 16 year old daughter of the late Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil man and Republican politician, returned to Chicago Saturday from Washington, proudly bearing what she termed "a letter of apology" from Leonard Wood, Jr. Wood recently charged that Hamon offered to secure the Republican presidential nomination for Major General Leonard Wood in 1920, in exchange for appointment as secretary of the interior.

Miss Hamon in her own language "ran away" to Washington in an effort to lay her father's case before the senate committee investigating naval oil reserves.

"I met Leonard Wood, Jr., outside a theatre in Washington and told him I wanted an apology," she said. "He told me he would give me one." She displayed a typewritten letter signed Leonard Wood, Jr., as follows:

"I am only too glad to write you about what I said in my interview to the press. I meant in no way to cast any personal reflections upon your father under whom I worked in Texas. I was merely asked several questions relative to the incident in Chicago, and I stated the incident as I recalled it to a reporter. As far as my personal feelings toward Jake Hamon, all I can say is that they were the pleasantest. I hope you feel better after reading this."

"My father made Harding president," Miss Hamon declared. "And he did it for my mother's sake. Father controlled votes enough to swing the convention when the end came. He wanted to have Harry Daugherty nominated, for Mr. Daugherty was a good friend of his, but mother persuaded father to use his influence for Mr. Harding, who was her cousin."

Chief Lanker Plans to Make
Lima a Real Oasis

"Lima bootleggers are quitting business and its not because business is poor. We are making it too hot for them," Chief "Smiling Tom" Lanker said Saturday night at police station.

"I am going to clean them out one and all," the chief said. "That means I am not protecting anyone and I am going to make Lima bone dry," he added.

PROTECTION TO VIOLATORS IS CLAIMED

Surprising Allegations Made Before Committee Investigating Justice Bureau

DEALS REVEALED

Shielding of Bootleggers and Rum Runners Charged
By Witnesses

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—New and surprising allegations of deals and frameups, unprosecuted violations of the law and of money payments for protection, were tumbled across the committee table Saturday in the senate's whirlwind investigation of Attorney General Daugherty and the department of justice.

Gun running, bootlegging and unlawful circulation of prize fight films were the subjects around which the testimony centered through a four hour committee session, scarcely less colorful than those which have preceded it.

From his office at the other end of Washington, Daugherty again struck back Saturday night at his accusers. He reserved until a later time, however, the detailed statement he is preparing in refutation of insinuations made against him on the witness stand, and contented himself with a brief announcement that in due time he would "advise the public of the influences behind these malicious and scandalous attacks and the character of the persons that are being used in this cowardly manner by my adversaries."

PRIZE FIGHT EXHIBITION
How the Dempsey-Carpenter prize fight films were exhibited with profits of $125,000 in 23 to 25 states with an "understanding," against department of justice interference, despite the law, was related on the witness stand Saturday by Fred C. Quimby, New York producer of the films. In many particulars his story followed the testimony of Gaston B. Means and Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess Smith, dead friend of Daugherty. Both of these witnesses had testified that Smith was interested financially in the film deal.

Other witnesses Saturday made charges of derelictions in prosecuting Mexican gun running, bootleggers and Texas oil stock promoters. Friends of former Secretary Fall and prominent Texas Republicans were named in this connection, and Federal District Attorney Henry Zweifel and John D. Hartman were charged with delay and failures of prosecution. One witness said he "believed" Zweifel was involved in a "blackmail" scheme against oil stock promoters.

Attorney General Daugherty was not directly implicated by any of Saturday's witnesses, but the testimony often trailed to the door of his office through his friend, Jess Smith and subordinate officials. While the committee was in session Chairman Adams of the Republican national committee issued a statement that nothing discreditable to Daugherty had yet been developed, but Republican leaders in the senate were known to be studying the developments carefully with a view to possible renewal of pressure upon the administration for action.

DAUGHERTY STATEMENT
The statement issued by Daugherty was as follows:

"In view of the fact that Miss Roxie Stinson, the divorced wife of the late Jess Smith, and that Gaston B. Means, formerly in the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, but not now connected therewith, were not called to the stand today to continue their statements and in view of the further fact that the statements submitted by Captain Baldwin, formerly in the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, but not now connected therewith, and by Mr. Quimby, owner, with Tex Rickard, of the Dempsey-Carpenter prize fight films, presented no features which are not entirely explained by documentary and other evidence it has become unnecessary at this time for the attorney general to burden the press or ask the reading public to spend any time considering the minor and unimportant matters which took up the session Saturday.

"As soon as Gaston B. Means and Miss Roxie Stinson have concluded their statements and been cross-ex-

ELIMINATION OF POLITICS FROM PENAL SYSTEM SOUGHT

CLEVELAND.—The Ohio committee on prison reform which meets here March 26, in annual session, has three main objects it desires to have put into effect. These are: The scientific, economic and humane treatment of persons awaiting trial or held as witnesses. The scientific treatment of all persons convicted.

The elimination of politics from the administration of the penal system. Literature issued by the committee declares that prisoners are crowded in cells with all sorts of criminals, usually are in complete idleness often in dirt and semi darkness.

TAX PAPERS OPEN TO INSPECTION

Order Issued to Revenue Department by Coolidge

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—President Coolidge has issued such privileges. The new order the bureau of internal revenue to permit the inspection of income and profit tax returns by congressional committees upon passage of a resolution by either house requesting such privileges. The new order became effective immediately upon promulgation late Saturday.

Also there was no comment at the treasury department the regulations carrying it into effect, when accepted as having a bearing on the oil inquiry, may lead to an inspection by the senate oil committee of the returns of the Doheny, Sinclair and other oil interests.

Internal revenue records can thus be opened wide by the passage of a resolution altho the congressional study of the returns may be in secret and the facts obtained may never be published. This phase of the regulations carries out provisions of the internal revenue act of 1921, which prescribes a penalty for publication of the source of income, profits, losses or expenditures appearing in any return.

FAUROT PARK IS GAINING FAME

There is one bootlegger and a number of clients who were disappointed Saturday night. Don Miller, Don McGuire, Jack Baker and Phil Telford discovered a cache of moonshine while playing in Faurot park. They took the liquor to W. J. Agerter, 1403 Lakewood-av., who turned it over to police.

City officials expect a large number of visitors to make a thorough search of the park today.

Victim Lived Alone With

KNOWN AS MISER

Revive

OTTAWA — (Special)—Daniel Shaefer, 68, one of Putnam-co's most eccentric characters, met a tragic death Saturday afternoon, giving his own life at a B. & O. crossing here in saving the life of one of his dogs.

Shaefer, known far and wide as a recluse who lived only for his dogs and chickens, was crossing the tracks at Second-st in Ottawa. He was accompanied by his five dogs. Four crossed the tracks with him; the fifth stopped on the tracks to devour a piece of meat.

Alarmed by an approaching train and noticing that one of the dogs had halted in its path, Shaefer rushed back, shoved the dog out of the way just as the train thundered past the crossing. He was unable to dart to safety himself and was hurled to death, his neck being broken as the locomotive tossed him from the tracks.

FOUR SEE TRAGEDY
The train was a D. T. & I. passenger train being detoured over the B. & O. because of a slight wreck near Leipsic. The tragedy was witnessed by Mrs. Robert MacDowell, Benjamin Thompson, Joseph Dull and Henry Wells.

"Old Dan" Shaefer, as nearly every man, woman and child in this section knew the tragedy victim, long had been referred to as a queer sort of miserly hermit about whom many a strange tale had been woven. Living alone save for his dogs and chickens in a little shack in the Columbus Grove-rd. in south Ottawa, "Old Dan" never received nor sought company or friends. He had dealings with few intimacies with none.

What few neighbors entered his home in the course of a year always brought back the same story, that of conditions indicating absolute poverty and friendlessness. Chiefly noticeable in the furnishings of the one-room shack were dirt and filth—and the dogs and chickens with whom he always shared the place.

But with all this outward appearance of poverty and destitution, "Old Dan" always had money with which to buy the best of feed for the dogs and chickens, altho apparently subsisting himself on the most meagre of poor rations. Scraps for himself, the best meat in town for his five dogs and the best feed obtainable for his chickens was his rule.

MYSTERY CROWS
Little by little has the mystery of the old recluse grown until rumors, whisperings and little things seen here and there gave rise to belief that the queer old man was as wealthy as he was "funny."

Known for a number of years as one of the queerest bits of human driftwood ever cast about on the tides of humanity and finally washed against the shores of death thru the storms of tragedy, "Old Dan" is as much of an interesting character in death as he was in life.

All the stories of mystery which had been thrown about him by the community are now being revived. Plans already are taking form toward searching the entire premises for secreted wealth. Belief long has prevailed that the walls of the old shack contained secret closets and mysterious chambers in which the miser hid his money. Furthermore the stories go that here and there about the grounds bits of treasure are buried and that "Old Dan" from time to time dug these up and sold them to get more cash to hide and count.

COUNTS MONEY NIGHTS
For, like all good stories of misers, "Old Dan" is believed not to have had a night's sleep in many years. He spent his nights counting his hoardings, his neighbors believe. Many a time have persons passed the old shack and later reported seeing "Old Dan" shadowy bent form grimly keeping watch under a dim oil lamp through the time and again through the watches of the night. Days he got the little sleep he seemed to need, settling about apparently only as much as was necessary to buy what provisions he got.

And now the strange object of all

SIGN FIRM PLANS NEW PLANT

Artkraft Company Closes Deal for Modern Factory Building

WORKERS TO BE NEEDED

Many Other Deals Reported by Lima Real Estate Operators

Construction of a $40,000 factory building on the D. T. & I. railroad at Shawnee-st. to be ready for occupancy early in August, was announced Saturday by R. R. Trubey, secretary of the Artkraft Sign Co., simultaneously with the announcement of purchase of a 10 acre tract for $25,000 consideration.

Officials of the company were authorized by directors to close with A. D. Swinehart, contractor, for erection of the building.

Ground will be broken for the plant May 1. The building is to be constructed of brick and concrete, with steel sash construction, and will be one story by 60 feet wide and 250 feet long.

A siding for use of the factory will be installed by the D. T. & I. The plant will be one of the most modern sign factories in the country.

Location of the factory in the east end, R. R. Trubey declared, was brought about thru efforts of the East Side Welfare association, and the industrial department of the Ford road.

NEAR KIBBY-ST
The tract on which the factory is to go up lies immediately north of E. Kibby-st. and between Shawnee-st. and Prospect-av. Detroit-st runs thru the property.

The plat was purchased from Michael & Fisher by D. T. Crumrine, acting as agent for the sign company. There are 69 lots in the tract, 19 of which will be retained for the factory site and for future expansion. The other 50 lots are to be sold to employees of the company for home sites, on the easy payment plan.

"It will be our policy," Trubey announced, "to assist our employees financially in building homes. The plat will be known as Artkraft subdivision, and every effort will be made to make it an ideal home section. The factory will in no wise affect home values, as all machinery used will be operated by electricity, and all heating done by gas."

A considerable number of employees, according to Trubey, have already signified their intention of buying lots. None will be offered to the general public, he asserted.

The Artkraft company, which started business in an empty livery stable in S. Union-st. 28 months ago with three workmen, all of whom were stockholders, now has 55 people at work, and a sales force of 25 representing the company in every state in the Union. The annual payroll is more than $100,000.

MORE EMPLOYEES
When the firm moves into its new building, 75 additional men will be employed, and the annual payroll, it is estimated, will amount to $300,000. The company is now the second largest in the country manufacturing signs for national advertisers.

Present plant of the company is situated in 1118 S. Main-st. Charles G. Myers is president, R. R. Trubey, secretary, and J. M. Schilling, sales manager.

Sale of 34 building lots in the Hillam A. Holdridge addition at $34,000 or $1,000 a lot, was announced by C. W. Dailey and E. H. Dorsey. Robert Holdridge purchased six lots and J. R. Clark bought five lots. Three lots were sold to Henry and Morris Higgins and three to Edward Wentworth. Edward Freymeyer and Mrs. Fitzgerald purchased four lots each and two lots were sold to J. R. Black.

Sale of one lot to each of the following was announced: Dale Cre-

PRESIDES AT TEA FOR 100Five O'Clock Tea at Elks Home is One of Winter's Most Attractive PartiesMrs. Galvin, Mrs. Breckenridge and Mrs. Wright Assist in Receiving

ONE of the largest and most attractive parties of the late winter season was the five o'clock tea at the Elks' home on Friday, at which Mrs. Frank G. Wright, 224 S. Cole-st., presided. Receiving with Mrs. Wright, whose guests numbered more than one hundred, were Mrs. John E. Galvin, Mrs. H. L. Breckenridge and Mrs. Harry Wright.

The tea tables, laid in the main dining room, were very artistic in their appointments of yellow and white. Small tables, with covers for four at each, surrounded the one large table, where a number of intimate friends of the hostess were seated. Platter baskets of yellow jonquils, white narcissus and greenery were on each table and the place cards and nut cups were of the same pretty colors. During the tea, a stringed trio, composed of Mrs. G. C. Dunifon, violinist; Mrs. Ralph Shrider, harpist, and Mrs. Andrew Dimond, cellist, played.

Alleged Plot to Muflet Other Men
Told on Stand

Wind up of the divorce battle between Mrs. Bernice Bourke and Charles F. Bourke for custody of Patricia (Pat), 3, came to common pleas court Saturday when the plaintiff made her last appearance on the stand.

She had been an alleged attempt of her husband to persuade her to admit relations with other men in order to lay basis for demanding large sums of money from the men to avoid exposure.

"Bourke denied this during his testimony but asserted his wife had confessed to indiscretions.

Mrs. Bourke was recalled to the stand to refute testimony introduced against her by the defense.

DENIES MEETING
She denied meeting or arranging to meet Sam Harris, former manager of the Lima Automobile Works at the Taylor home in Dingledine.

Testimony disclosed that Harris came to the house while she was there, but the purpose of his visit was not explained.

"She also asserted she had taken the last care of her baby who could while working. Her mother, she said, cared for the child in her absence. Her father she said owns two properties, and is well able to care for his family.

Mrs. Bourke on one occasion broke down on the stand and cried, but recovered her composure with an effort and concluded her testimony. After leaving the courtroom her emotions again mastered her. She was led away by friends.

HUSBAND'S CHARGES
Charles Bourke, hurled charges of neglect, intoxication and indiscretions with other men when he took the stand Saturday morning to testify.

He told the court his wife obtained whiskey while employed by two doctors, and once came home intoxicated. He also said she was intoxicated at a party held in the William Hughes home. She danced on a table top he said.

Hughes, when on the stand, declared she took one drink, and Bourke took some too.

Testimony in the case closed Saturday when Judge Blachly declared he had heard enough. Arguments will be made Thursday, the court announcing he would stop them if he so disposed.

FIVE ADMIT THEIR GUILTY

Sentences Withheld by Judge;
Trial Dates to be Set

Fifteen of the 22 persons indicted by the Allen-co grand jury on Wednesday, were arraigned in common pleas court Saturday on the respective charges with which they are charged. Five of the number pleaded guilty.

No sentences were imposed by the court, the five being either admitted to bond or returned to the county jail. Neither did the court fix dates for trials for the 10 offenders who elected to fight their cases.

Several of the number are slated to change their pleas from not guilty to guilty Monday, according to a statement made by Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott, Saturday night.

Judge Becker, before whom the prisoners were arraigned, will likely set the dates for trials early in the week.

George Phillips, accused in two check charges, and burglary and larceny, entered a plea of not guilty.

John Lewis, pleaded not guilty to grand larceny. John May, also elected to stand trial on the same charges.

John Fisher, entered pleas of not guilty on grand larceny indictments.

WIND THEFT
Louis Vallis, and Pete Oper, Rumans, and alleged king pins in the wine stealing ring rounded up by police following the Tony Oliver job, waived examination, pleaded not guilty and were held on $500 bond each.

Russell Ford, 19, member of the gang admitted to the court that he entered Oliver's cellar, and assisted in carrying away 40 gallons of Italian wine, three kegs and two large glass jugs. He protested however, that he only took 15 gallons for himself.

On account of his youth, and the severe penalty provided for burglary, an occupied dwelling at night, he was allowed to plead guilty to larceny, on a recommendation to the court from the grand jury.

John Walker, colored, pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons. Three charges of shooting to kill were passed by the court.

Art Ricketts, pleaded guilty to forgery; Frank Sinks to burglary and larceny; Harry Bradford, alias Henry Dahl to non support. Former Police Chief Jake Roush, appeared in court as bondsman for Dahl. Bond was fixed at $400.

Dewitt McGee, colored, waived examination and was released on $500 bond on charge of stealing an automobile.

The other call from P. O. Riley, 232 E. Fifth-st, who stated there were two suspicious looking characters prowling around the street. No suspects were found by the officers.

PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS MUST TAKE SCHOOL EXAM

All high school seniors thruout the state who intend to enter the teacher training institutions next September, must take a summer examination May 10, according to a ruling made by the state director of education, Vernon M. Riegel. The questions will be sent out by the state department and the examinations will be conducted at the various county seats.

This is a new requirement sent out by the state department, and according to Riegel's ruling, no student will be admitted to any state or private normal school or to any county or city normal school in the future unless he takes and passes this preliminary examination.

Probable applicants wishing more of the details on the subjects to be covered by examination should write to the state department of education. It is announced, however, that further details will be given out later.

WAR HISTORY IS IN LIBRARY

G. A. R. Post Thanks Congressman Cable for His Donation

Resolution of thanks to Congressman J. L. Cable for his assistance in obtaining a set of 70 books on the War of the Rebellion for the local G. A. R. post, was made at the regular meeting of Mart Armstrong Post, 202, G. A. R., at Memorial hall Saturday.

The books contain the most complete and authentic account of the Civil War from its beginning to the end. Every battle, every skirmish, every encounter, no matter how insignificant, are included in the set.

Following is the resolution made by the post and sent to Cable:

BE IT RESOLVED by Mart Armstrong Post, No. 202, G. A. R., of Lima, Ohio, that the thanks of said post be tendered to Hon. John L. Cable, member of Congress for the fourth district of Ohio, for the interest shown by him in this post and especially for his kind offer of furnishing for this post seventy books of the War of the Rebellion to be placed in the library of this post.

These books are in the G. A. R. library and meeting room in the southeast corner of Memorial hall and access to them can be made at all times by members of G. A. R. Chapter.

The books, however, cannot be taken from the room.

these mysterious stories has passed on, those who long had been agitated and thrilled by the unusual stories are ready to run them down. Searching parties to dig up every foot of ground on the premises and thoroughly examine every crack and crevice in the old house are being talked of and are expected to get underway at once.

MONEY SEWED UP
Hearing out in part at least the belief in Old Dan's mysterious wealth is the fact that when Coroner A. P. Shelby of Putnam-co examined the remains he found $248 in currency sewed into the clothing which the old man evidently had worn continuously for many years.

The coroner and other officials have been unable to locate any relatives. Gossip from time to time has mentioned a sister residing in Lima, but her name has not been heard. Other rumors are that he once was married and has a son and daughter living somewhere in this section of the state.

"Old Dan" has met his tragic end and he died as he lived, for his pet, but the mystery which in life enshrouded the pathetic figure still remains to be solved.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED ON BRIBERY CHARGE

SALEM, Ohio—Four men, one a constable and former "card" prohibition agent, are under arrest here on charges of bribery and liquor law violations.

A warrant signed by Chief of Police Thompson charges Constable Earl Ritchie, former state prohibition officer, with accepting a bribe in return for protection. He is said to have given Andre Teofil, John Rotz and Martin Gardner. The last three named are charged with offering a bribe, transportation and manufacture of liquor. Gardner was arrested by Chief Thompson in Sharon, Pa., Saturday.

Ritchie is also accused of transporting whiskey.

May J. B. Schaeffer set next Thursday as the date for Ritchie's trial.

MRS. HANNAH SISLER, 75 DIES AT SPENCERVILLE

SPENCERVILLE—(Special)—Mrs. Hannah Sisler, 75, died Friday at her home, 308 N. Main-st, following an illness which dated from a paralytic stroke which she suffered a year ago.

Mrs. Sisler is survived by her husband, William Sisler, and three sons, Philip, Spencerville; Samuel, Pittsburgh, and Frank, Ohio City.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday from the home and will be conducted by Rev. Metz, pastor of Spencerville M. E. church, with interment in Spencerville cemetery.

BOOTLEG CHARGES
The Captain Baldwin mentioned in the statement, now a member of the Texas Rangers, was one of the witnesses who brought gun running and bootlegging into the inquiry Saturday by testifying that there had been a failure and neglect by the department of justice to prosecute these violations in Texas.

Quimby was called unexpectedly in place of Means or Miss Stinson and supported Means' story that a "deal" for exhibition of the fight films had been made in 1921 with Jap Muma, friend of Jess Smith, and New York correspondent for the Cincinnati Enquirer; William H. Orr, secretary to former Governor Whitman of New York, and Ike Martin of Cincinnati.

Quimby said there was an arrangement that men who were sold state exhibition rights received small times and then were allowed to proceed unmolested with exhibitions.

He identified some of the men named in a list given out by Daugherty Friday night as having been fined and those sold state rights.

The selling syndicate, according to Quimby, include himself, "Tex" Rickard, fight promoter, and the Jack Kearns-Jack Dempsey Amusement Corporation. The contract with Muma and his associates provide for a 50-50 division of profits, he said, and he testified to payment of $65,000 to Muma.

Details of the arrangements were drawn from Quimby with much difficulty at times and he was excused only with a promise to submit his books and records showing the whole transaction. This will be gone into further on Monday by the committee with G. O. Holdbridge, of Baltimore, former department head burglar, who was summoned here hurriedly while Quimby was testifying.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Mont., conducting the development of the testimony read fragments from what purported to be a report by Holdbridge to the department of justice regarding an investigation of the film deal.

FRIEND OF DAUGHERTY

This report presumably in the department files, mentioned Muma and others named in the transaction. Quimby said was told by Ted Rickard that Muma was a "good friend" of Daugherty, Edward B. McLean, and Wm. J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation. Muma also told him of his friendship with Jess Smith, and it was under these circumstances that Quimby went into the affair that assurances he said that everything would be all right and that those interested would not be disturbed.

And (Rickard) told you that Muma was the close friend of Harry M. Daugherty, Edward B. McLean and that it could be fixed to show them all over the country?" Quimby was asked.

"Yes," he replied. Alfred Union, a Washington lawyer, said to be a friend of the attorney general, also figured prominently in the development of the film story. The testimony was that Union with Muma arranged to have attorneys in different states select men to whom the films should be sold.

He desisted entirely from showing the films, he said, in December, 1923, after being told by Ralph Navarro, a New York agent of the department of justice that he would be subject to prosecution for conspiracy.

Meantime for exhibiting the films in New York state, Quimby asserted had been prosecuted and fined $1000 but told by officials in the office of District Attorney Hayward and in Hayward's presence that he should wait a little while before giving further exhibitions. He said he waited about thirty days, resumed showing the pictures and then finally made about $75,000.

After Quimby's testimony committee report of the subject was deferred until Monday in order to hear witnesses on gun running and other subjects from men who had been waiting here several days.

Baldwin, whose home is at San Antonio, Tex., testified that he had resigned as department of justice agent on the Texas border, after being as he discovered, "too active" to suit officials at Washington in his investigation of border running to Mexican revolutionists, bootlegging and other cases involving District Attorneys Zweifel and Hartman of Texas and their friends.

With gun running rampant on the border, he said, he was ordered to close his office at Del Rio and go to Dallas, Texas, leaving a 200-mile stretch of border unprotected so far as the department of justice was concerned.

His testimony, Senator Wheeler assured the committee, was but "a link in a chain" of evidence by which he expects to demonstrate that American oil interests were behind revolutionary activities in Mexico.

Other high spots of Captain Baldwin's testimony were that he received orders after making a report on District Attorney Zweifel to cease investigating federal officers and that during the administration of Attorney General A. Palmer Mitchell the department of justice gave orders stopping its agents from prohibition enforcement work as order which he said was still in force.

District Attorney Hartman of the Western Texas district, was charged by Captain Baldwin with inaction in the case of Harry Hamilton, former prohibition "group" agent, on a charge of selling a still seized from bootleggers to other bootleggers.

Hartman told him Baldwin said that he had to confer with United States Marshal Walker, a brother-in-law of Attorney General Daugherty, Postmaster Lucas and other Republicans, because Hamilton since resigned as a prohibition officer got his appointment from the "same source" as Hartman.

Baldwin also charged that in a grand jury inquiry in the Hamilton case he had not been examined fully and none of his witnesses had been called.

The committee also had on the stand for a few minutes today P. C. Pendleton, of New Orleans, another former department of justice agent who said it was a general understanding among secret service men that W. J. Burns used his official position to aid the business of the Burns detective agency.

When the committee resumes Monday morning it is the intention to dig deeper into the fight film "deal."

OHIO FILM CASE

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press)—Attorney General Daugherty and the department of justice knew nothing of the prosecution of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight pictures case in Ohio until after the man who had brought the pictures into the state had pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Sater and had been assessed the maximum fine of $1,000 and costs, Dana F. Reynolds, assistant district attorney then and now, said Saturday.

Frank B. Flournoy brought the pictures into Ohio, and paid the fine Nov. 2, 1921, Reynolds said. Flournoy voluntarily came in to the district attorney's office with the information that he had transported the pictures arguing that the law was generally considered unreasonable, he should be let off with a small fine.

Judge Sater took the attitude, Reynolds said, that as long as it was on the statute books it should be enforced. He warned Flournoy that if the offense was repeated a jail sentence would be added to the fine. The law provides a maximum sentence of six months.

Reynolds said the case was handled in the usual way without any instructions from Washington and that it was reported in the usual way, after it was over.

WOMAN IS AWARDED $100,000 IN VERDICT

CHICAGO—A million dollars would not compensate a person for forcibly being detained in an insane asylum when that person is sane, Circuit Judge Brothers declared Saturday in giving judgment for $100,000 on a jury verdict in the case of Augustus Glendinning, widow of a manufacturer. She sued William Palmer and Thomas Davis, cousins of her deceased husband, who she charged caused her to be detained in a sanitarium at Wauwatosa, Wis., at the time of her husband's death, while they attempted to gain control of his estate.

Judge Brothers entered judgment after denying a new trial.

TOURS TO WASHINGTON ANNOUNCED BY B. & O.

Personally conducted tours to Washington will be a feature of the B. & O. railroad service during the summer. This was especially popular during the summer of 1923, officials say.

All features of the trip are carefully planned and are the product of years of experience. All expenses of the trip are included in one sum and for this reason are appreciated by those who have a limited amount of money.

Dates of the tours are April 14, May 26, June 9, June 16, July 7, July 21, August 11 and August 25.

LAWYERS NAMED FOR BAR ASSOCIATION MEET

CLEVELAND—Sixty-two Cleveland lawyers and judges were named delegates and alternates Saturday to attend a joint meeting of American, British and Canadian bar associations in London the last week in July.

The meeting will be the first of the kind and is the result of a suggestion by chief justice of the United States, William H. Taft.

PENSIONS FOR ALL OR NONE, PLEA

Bingham Protests Against Any Distinctions Being Made

Abolish police and fire pension funds or else provide pension funds for all city employees who have given valuable service, City Manager C. A. Bingham recommended Saturday.

There should be no distinction in city offices, Bingham insists. Police and firemen, he adds, are exposed to dangers, but life-long employees in other departments give just as valuable service to the city he believes.

"There is no reason why one employee should be promised a pension for doing his work as expected when others give their best efforts for the city and reap no remuneration after years of service," Bingham said.

Efforts exerted for a waterworks pension fund have so far been unsuccessful, but agitation is heard and it is predicted a general movement will be started to place all city officials on the same basis.

TWO NEW CONFECTIONARY STORES FOR W. HIGH-ST.

Two new confectionary stores are to be opened in W. High-st this summer.

The Hamilton Confectionary Co. has procured a ten-year lease on the room formerly occupied by the Franklin Finance Co. while the Sweetland Confectionary Co. has leased the vacant room in the city building.

Leases were arranged by Gooding & Sons Co. realtors.

HEY, SPOONERS, THEY'RE PLANNING ON PAVEMENT OF KISSING HOLLOW-RO

County commissioners and Sugar Creek-trustees have combined to make Kissing Hollow-rod still more attractive to lovers, who will take motor rides out that way during the coming summer.

Agreement was reached, it was learned Saturday, between commissioners and trustees for paving the road, from the end of the pavement in West-st road thru to Gomer.

Demand for the improvement was made before the county board in the past week by R. W. Enslin, T. C. Jones and Sam Smith, Sugar Creek trustees.

Commissioners agreed to lay a water bound macadam base during the present year and to top surface the road next year with asphalt or other material.

Kissing Hollow-rod, long a popular rendezvous for lovers on a summer's night, bids fair to become more so, when the improvement is finished. All will be well, unless commissioners decide to put in electric lights.

LIABILITY BONDS FILED BY TAXICAB OPERATORS

Licenses to taxicab operators are to be issued Monday upon approval by City Manager C. A. Bingham of liability bonds filed by the three leading companies—Red Top, Yellow Cab and Checker Cab.

Manager Bingham returned insurance bonds to the Red Top and Yellow Cab Co's for insertion of a 10 days clause giving the city notice of expiration of the insurance or discontinuance of business by the company.

All demands of the city for protection of passengers to the amount of $10,000 have been complied with and operators are ordered by the city manager to appear Monday for licenses or else discontinue service.

More Complaints Expected at Commission Meeting

Additional complaints against smoke nuisances are expected to be filed in commission Monday night by E. High and W. High-st merchants and property owners who were subjected to soot and smoke baths Friday and Saturday.

Dense clouds of smoke from the Grant-bldg on E. High-st and from other buildings with reported low chimneys filled the street on W. High-st and smoke from the Masonic building is alleged to have created a nuisance.

smoke nuisances at St. Rita's hospital are before commission with Resolution Paul Landis expected to give a decision Monday night as to the city's authority for abatement.

On windy days complaints are received from residents in the vicinity of city hospital, the White Mountain creamery and from buildings in the business district using soft coal.

Question to be determined by commission in enactment of an abatement ordinance is, "how much smoke constitutes a nuisance?" Under the state law every city has a legal right to prohibit dense smoke when the density becomes offensive but the law fails to designate just what density constitutes a nuisance.

ONLY MARRIAGES IN WHICH MAN DOMINATES ARE SUCCESSFUL, DECLARES WIDELY KNOWN WRITER

Lucian Cary Says It's Matter Of Worth While Husband Prevailing Or Woman Directing One That's Not Worth Having

EDITOR'S NOTE: While all writers of fiction are specialists in the subject embraced by this remarkable symposium, "Love, Marriage, and the Modern Woman," there are few who have made a more penetrating, consistent study of its psychology than Lucian Cary. As an author of unusually successful love stories, Mr. Cary has not been content merely to write romances which please and entertain; but he has applied the laboratory method to his work, seeking to extract what Medicine calls the "active principle" from the complex of emotions and inhibitions which govern a given situation.

For this reason, what Mr. Cary has to say is not only arresting in itself for the keenness and cogency of its presentation, but because it is the fruit of unusual application to this whole field.

(BY LUCIAN CARY)

CONSIDER the marriages you know. If you look at them simply enough you will see that they fall into three classes. In the first class are those marriages in which the man dominates the woman. In the second class are those marriages in which the woman dominates the man. In the third class are those marriages in which the fight is still on.

When you have classified the marriages you know according to this simple (tho subtle) principle you should be in a position to observe a quite tremendous fact about marriage:

Only those marriages in which the man dominates the woman are successful.

But you may run into difficulties before you get that far. You may want to stop and ask yourself what is meant by domination; and what is meant by success in marriage.

Domination isn't something that can be weighed on a pair of scales or measured with a tape-line. It is apparent that most men are taller and heavier than most women. Most husbands could beat their wives in a rough-and-tumble fight. But that has very little to do with their power to dominate their wives. Indeed, superior physical strength has very little to do with a man's power to dominate other men. A plump little man with a head too big for his body came nearer to dominating all Europe than any other man has ever come before or since.

WHENCE DOMINATION PROCEEDS
Domination does not proceed from superior physical strength. Neither does it proceed from superior brains. Everybody knows what happened to Socrates when his wife started. He had the best mind of his time, one of the great minds of all time, but he was scared to death of his wife.

Finally, domination does not proceed from a superior willingness to take a chance. From that point of view the cards are stacked against women. Marriage is more important to them than it is to men. It is also more difficult to achieve—for them. But women are so much better gamblers in the field of emotions that they would win every time if it were merely a question of who would throw the biggest bluff.

No, domination proceeds from something more subtle than superior physical strength or superior intelligence or superior willingness to take a chance. It proceeds from a satisfying sense of oneself and one's own value in a word, from egotism.

The secret of dominating personalities is a sound ego. How can you tell whether a man has a sound ego or not? You can't tell. But you can feel it. And tho nobody can define it or describe it accurately, everybody recognizes it when he meets it. All men begin beginning long before we learn to walk and talk. We judge other people's egos. By the time we are grown up we have had years of practice in this subtle and difficult art. And as we become articulate we more and more judge people by our perception of their egos.

WHAT IS THE TEST?
We say of a man that he brags—meaning that he is worried about his ego and is trying to convince himself that it is all right. We say of a man that he is shy—meaning that he hasn't the courage to assert his ego. We say of a man that he will succeed—meaning that he has convinced us his ego is strong enough to face discouragements and defeat. A healthy ego makes a good husband.

But what is the test of a successful marriage? Ordinarily we say that a marriage is a success when we feel that husband and wife are happy. But most human beings—married or not—are partly happy and partly unhappy. Don't we really mean when we say marriage is successful, that the husband and wife seem to us to be more worth knowing married to each other than they would be otherwise? The question is really just as simple and just as subtle as that. But tho we can't define a successful marriage in any set loose and vague terms we can feel it, sense it, know it.

Why must men dominate the woman in a marriage?
Dr. J. Kempf, who is one of the best informed American students of the subject, remarks that marriage is followed by a subtle struggle for dominance. If the woman wins in this struggle the man tends to become unsatisfactory to her as a husband and he either accepts defeat and loses his masculinity or else seeks another woman who is able to give him a proper sense of himself.

FACT TO ACCEPT
Most students of applied psychology would agree with Dr. Kempf in the judgment. And, in common with him, they found their belief in actual experience with the analysis of husbands and wives—a treatment which often discovers the essential facts to be quite different from those which appear on the surface.

Another view, somewhat more theoretical, is that of many biologists, anthropologists, and sociologists. It is that the dominance of men has a biological origin. Which is only their way of saying that it is natural to the human race.

I am not so sure of the biological facts—which have often been used to prove quite opposite views. I am not sure that male dominance is natural to the human race—now, always, and forever after. There is some evidence of successful human

BY JANE BELLOWES

Lie on back, legs extended. Touch floor near left shoulder with right foot. Return to position. Repeat with left foot. Continue alternately 20 to 30 times.

This is a splendid abdominal massage, but should be avoided if there is any abdominal tenderness, as in inflammatory conditions of the kidneys or colon.

In a woman's attempt to dominate a man is always her desire to test him out. She strives—often unconsciously—to make him dominate her. For that is her only hope that he will dominate anybody or anything. If he is slow about it she is going to nag him into it—if she can.

Women who nag often incur the suspicion that they aren't loving. But it is really their need of love that makes them nag. Women who nag and nag and nag to nag the man into asserting himself once for all are likely to become confirmed naggers. Nagging is not beautiful. But it has this merit: It is incontrovertible evidence that the woman has not given up hope of driving the man into action.

CANNOT DELUDE HERSELF
For a woman's choice in this world is a stark and terrible one: It is the choice between being dominated by a man who is worth having and dominating a man who is not worth having. And she can never be quite sure which choice she has made until after she has married the man.

Indeed, the more closely one studies this predicament of women the more one is appalled by it. Some women are, of course, complete fools about it and make such demands for dominance as a combination of Hercules, Napoleon, and Bernard Shaw rolled into one could not meet. All one can say of them is they are fundamentally unfitted for marriage in our society.

Some women—perhaps one in twenty—have a secret gift, a kind of unconscious gift, for making a man feel like a king and even act like one. All one can say of such women is to hope that they will find men who are not worth it. But the vast majority of women have quite blindly to deal with the vast majority of men. They have to do the best they can—which is sometimes very good indeed and sometimes very bad and unusually rather so-so.

You see a woman can't pretend that a man is dominant when he isn't. She may pretend it to him; she may pretend it to other people; but she cannot pretend it to herself—and it is what she feels and inevitably communicates to her husband that matters.

THE PRESENT FLIGHT
And if she can't nag him or drive him or threaten him into dominating her—what is she going to do?

The answer is all about you: she is going to be unhappy and restless and miserable and she is going to make everybody who comes into close relations with her unhappy and restless and miserable.

The answer is possibly commoner in these United States today than it has been anywhere else in the world since recorded history began because we have made it more difficult for men to dominate women according to the traditional pattern than it has even been before. For thousands of years women have been subjected to all sorts of discrimination. Women didn't legally own their own children or their own property or their own opinions. Husbands were permitted to beat them or desert them or suppress them and women had to like it. They were brought up to like it.

We have changed all that. Women have almost the same rights as men in the law and in public opinion. A woman who doesn't like her husband can go and get a job—or another husband. The cards are still stacked against women but not so heavily stacked. And the consequence is that the world is full of men who can't dominate their women—and of women who are unhappy in consequence.

WHY NOT ASK THEM?

Susie Smart Advises These Young Men to "Pop the Question" If They Desire to Assure Themselves of Their Sweethearts' Love—Other Answers Given

DEAR MISS SMART:
I am a young man, 24 and 25 years of age. We are madly in love with two certain ladies of the same age. Now, Miss Smart, we think we have a very difficult problem and need your help.

These two ladies act as if they are fond of us at times, but are so changeable that we do not think we can trust them. While we worship them and never go with other girls, they go with other men and even tell us about it, but if we only mention another girl, they get angry and don't speak to us for weeks.

The two ladies referred to have been married and divorced, and our older friends are constantly advising us not to waste our time with them. But as we previously stated, we are madly in love with them and do not care what our friends say. So this is the situation and we ask your advice.

Please advise us with other girls and try to forget these two or should we continue to go with them? What can we do to win their love?

Do you think a divorced woman can make a good wife?

THEY AND I AMEN
Why should these young women not go about with other men? They aren't engaged to you, you know, and evidently you haven't asked them to be. If you think they care for you and you really worship them, then why not ask them to be engaged to you? As your affairs are now, you can't expect them to give up their other friends and I can hardly believe that the girls would be so selfish as to expect you boys not to go with other girls.

Certainly, a divorced woman would make a good wife. Don't hold an unhappy and unsuccessful marriage against her.

Dear Miss Smart:

I am a daily reader of your column and I must say I most always like the answers you give. I have a question that I am asking. Will you please help me on this little matter?

I am 22 years old and married. I am anxious to have my hair bobbed but I am afraid it will soon go out of style. I know it would be becoming to me as it is so easy to keep in curl and just curls beautifully. Do you believe I should have it bobbed?

I have medium brown hair, grey eyes and a very fair complexion. What color could I wear best? What material or color would make a stunning little spring dress for me? Would a pleated skirt and a brushed wool sweater of some shade make a nice sport suit for spring? Do you think I could wear the lighter shade of green very well? Am I the large hat or smaller ones, being worn this spring?

I am five feet, two inches in height. How much should I weigh? Please answer at once, Miss Smart, as I am waiting for your advice before taking any steps.

CURLY LOCKS.
The inevitable expression—"To bob or not to bob." No, I don't think that bobbed hair will go out of style. The "bob" is here to stay for a long time and that style of hair dressing no longer is a fad. If you think that short hair would be becoming to you, I'd bob it. It is most comfortable, especially in the summer time, and you have the biggest question solved already—keeping it in curl. I wouldn't advise a "shingle curl" unless you are quite sure it would become you.

One of your coloring can wear most any colors. Avoid such colors as emerald or grass green, a pale violet, pinks or deep purples. Tan and brown would be becoming shades as well as navy blue. Satin is very good for a spring dress. Black satin, trimmed in crystal buttons, is always good, as well as flannels, crepes or printed silks. Sweaters and skirts will be very popular for sport wear this spring and summer. As a sport "suit," however, why not make a flannel one? A flannel, trimmed in brown braid or kid, would be pretty for you. You'll find that the light colored sweaters are replacing the navy blue or brown ones. Yes, the lighter shade of green would be attractive for you. The small hats, one and one or two notices in The March 11, 1874, was on Wednesday, and Feb. 15, 1868, fell on Saturday.

Very good.

Dear Miss Smart:

Will you please answer these questions for me?

Where are some good places where dancing is taught, both "fancy and plain"? Do they dance in couples or by themselves? Can you join a class about the first of April? How long do these terms last?

Thanking you in advance, I am, Yours truly, TEMPEST.

If you will send me a self-addressed envelope, I will be glad to send you the names of dancing teachers in the city, those who teach fancy dancing as well as the other. The information you wish will have to be obtained from the teachers.

Dear Miss Smart:

How will I do this? I would like to launder the K. K. K. suits or other kind of piece work and don't like to put an ad in the newspaper for that kind of work.

I know of no other way for you to obtain customers than to advertise. The charge would be a small one and one or two notices in The Lima News would no doubt prove quite profitable for you.

Dear Susie Smart:

I am a daily reader of your column and I want you to help it out with a few questions. I am 10 years old and am four feet, 11 inches tall. How much should I weigh? I have light hair and brown eyes. What colors can I wear?

Is Gloria Swanson dead? Is she married? What is her address?

Will you tell me the meanings of the following names: Ruth, Leah, Mavis, Viola, Violet, Mavis, Avonelle, Mild, Margaret, meaning a pearl; William means protector; James means a supplanter, and Glen means vigilant.

What is my writing?

A GIRL THAT IS NICE MAXINE.

You should weigh about 70 pounds. You should be able to wear the various shades of brown, such as tan, brown, Mexican, shade, navy blue, green or red becomingly.

No, Gloria Swanson isn't dead. In fact, she has denied all such reports most emphatically. You can address her in care of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, 485 Fifth Ave., New York. She has been married twice, but is now divorced.

A good recipe for buttered candy: 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup of water, 1 desert spoon of vinegar and one piece of nutmeg, size of Walnut. Boil 20 minutes. Use hard ball test. Pour in buttered pan.

Ruth means beauty; Leah means light; Mavis means heroine; Viola means a violet; Mavis means sweet; Avonelle means fresh; Mild means mild threatened; Mavis comes from Margaret, meaning a pearl; William means protector; James means a supplanter, and Glen means vigilant.

A Few Remarks On Franchises

The foundation upon which practically all public utilities operate is a grant by some duly constituted authority of the right not only to conduct its business but the further right to locate a part or parts of the equipment necessary in the conduct of its business upon public property.

This grant, termed a franchise, in the case of electric light and power companies is given by municipal authorities.

In the early days of the electric light and power industry, such grants were intimately associated with municipal politics and in many cases were used to further the interests of illegitimate promoters.

Many companies were formed and many franchises secured for the sole purpose of harassing existing companies and with the sole ultimate view of selling out at a profit.

Such conditions invited reprisals by the public through its administrative bodies, in the form of drastic and unfair legislation, under which legitimately operated companies could not profitably exist. The result was wretched service, rapid depreciation of property because of insufficient moneys spent for maintenance and repair, and a restricted area in which service was supplied because of absolute inability to attract capital for extensions.

Such situations are not unusual in new unstabilized enterprises, and such abuses of franchise grants and of municipal authority are largely responsible for the legislation which centers the regulation and supervision of the public service companies in the hands of a semi-judicial body created by the state and having wide powers.

"Trilby"

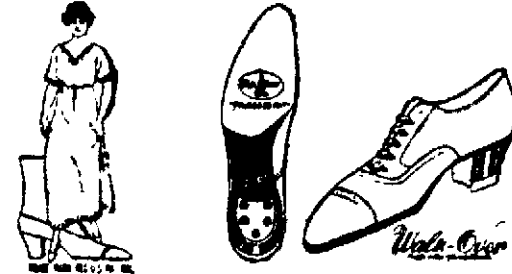

At the Sigma Theatre March 16th

Trilby is the story of a beautiful artist's model who was particularly noted (not for the smallness) but for the perfect symmetry of her feet.

Andrea Lafayette, the French actress, was selected for the title role because of the almost exact likeness of her features and personality to the heroine of Du Maurier's immortal story.

Mlle. Lafayette is a constant wearer of Walk-Over Shoes, having first become acquainted with their desirability through a visit to the Walk-Over Shop at 21 Rue de Italienna in Paris. She has from their use learned the undeniable satisfaction to be found in modish footwear that not only beautifies but preserves the natural grace and symmetry of the feet.

Short Frocks and Shorter Sleeves Prevail for Children

THE very little girl wears a very short frock—a frock so short if she follows the latest mode and has her clothes made to fit her as she is, not as she is expected to be next summer that she might be excused for thinking it was just a blouse or smock. The waist, where there is one, is long leaving only a finger's length or slightly more to represent what might be called the skirt. Often there is no waistline at all, the frock hanging from the neck or from a short yoke.

Sleeves are as abbreviated as skirts, often being entirely lacking. Among the new French frocks for little children there is frequently an extending of the shoulder portion that droops down, giving what resembles a sleeve the frock possesses. Sometimes this shoulder portion is extended to make a little fitted sleeve which hugs the shoulders in a manner to accentuate the charm of the little girl's arm.

For the American little girl there are frequently bloomers, usually matching the frock, and showing as unabashedly as our grandmothers showed their pantalettes. Bloomers are not so obvious in the picture of French little girls. For party frocks dainty lingerie is more to the liking of the French mothers, and for play wear straight, very diminutive, rather close-fitting short trousers. The bloomer that is shirred into a knee band, and that shows beneath the frock, seems to appeal more to the American taste.

Nothing is more appropriate or in better taste for little children's frocks than batiste or fine linen embellished with fine embroidery. From St. Gall now come charming frocks embroidered by machine, but so skillfully manipulated that the work can hardly be told from the more expensive and often less substantial hand work.

This embroidery is not always in white, bright colors often being used, and sometimes white embroidery against colored linen or batiste.

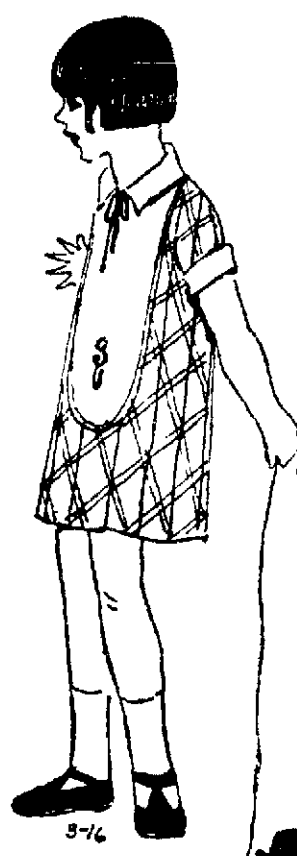

Americans seemingly have long realized and French women are beginning to observe that the frocks that are readily "lavable" are much to be preferred to those that must water even more speedily than linen, can be ironed by an amateur and wears admirably. Little suits or smocks for boys and frocks for girls are made of pongee smocked at the yoke in the manner that has been in favor for several years. Newer still is the trick of finishing the pongee frock or suit with a band of colored stitchery about the hem, with stitchery at the neck and end of the short sleeves.

Elaborate and very dainty clothes for the little baby always cost a good deal more than the amount set down on the price marks or scored up against you on your account. In these days when nurse maids are rare birds, and when many folk contemplate two cars before they think of having two servants, many a woman can manage very nicely to take care of her own babies—provided, of course, that they are dressed with almost institutional simplicity. Add lace ruffles, heading run with ribbon and ribbon bows, crepe de chine wraps and capes trimmed with ruching, embroidered booties, silk-lined caps and satin-faced cushions, and the task becomes discouraging. Still there are some women who really prefer all these baby extravagances to seeing a babe of their own dressed with simplicity that amounts to plainness. It is something akin to the satisfaction that they get from the feeling of fine silk lingerie against their skin, the comfort of georgette and chiffon negligees and careening pelisse—this satisfaction that is to be gained from the mere thought that their babies are dressed with consummate daintiness. If your mother love takes that channel of self-expression, then you will go to much pains to get all these little baby frou frous.

FACTS OF FASHION

AT THE HEM

THE hem of the street frock is finished simply with a straight line, while at the hem of the evening frock al shows some trimming or irregular about the hem of the skirt.

A charming violet chiffon eve frock shows artificial violets tared over the skirt with flat bar applied all around the hem.

Some of the straight-line tul frocks show one or three na flounces of plaiting at the botto the skirt.

A straight, unbelted, black evening gown shows a ruffled so starting below the knees that h in points at either side.

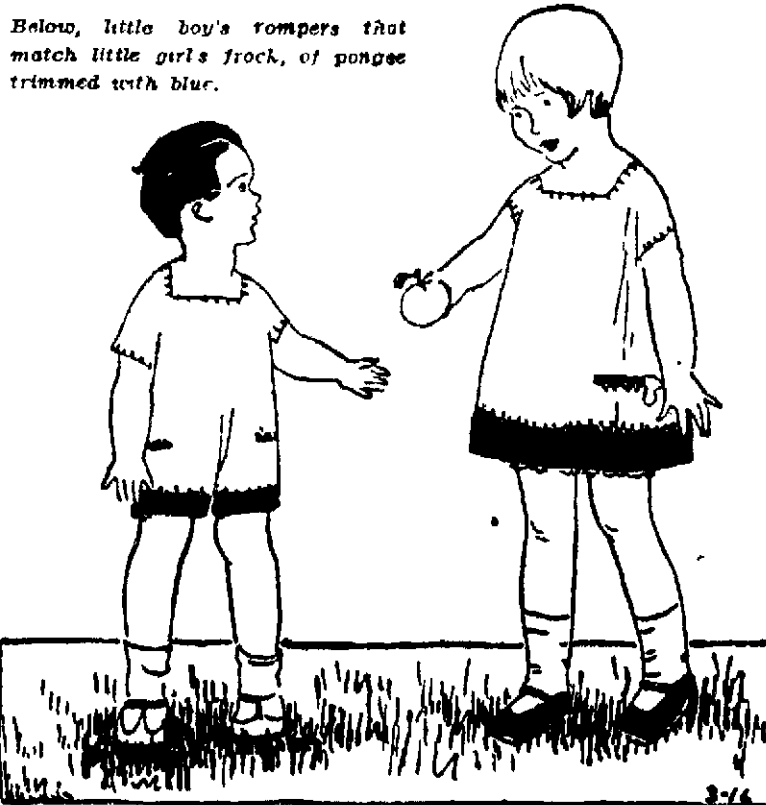

Many frocks have godet flay the sides that make the sides a what longer than either bac front.

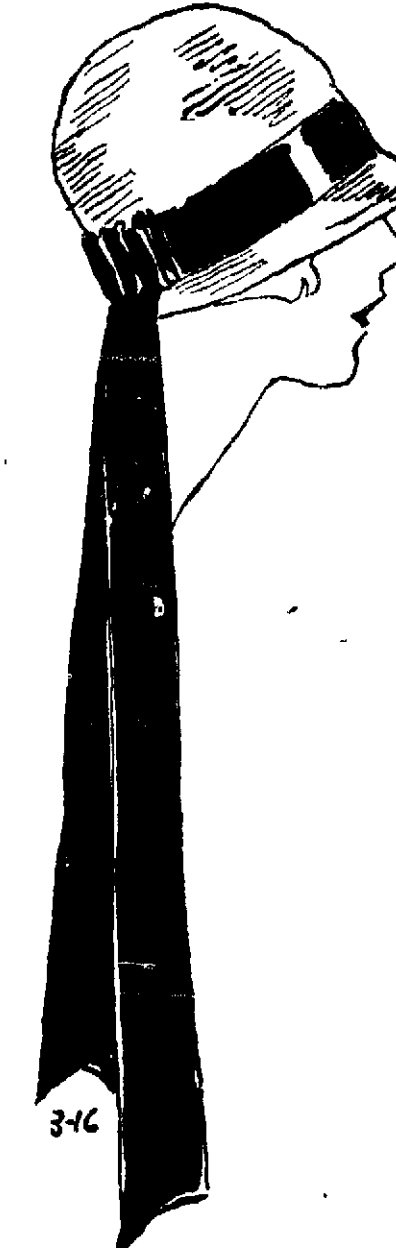

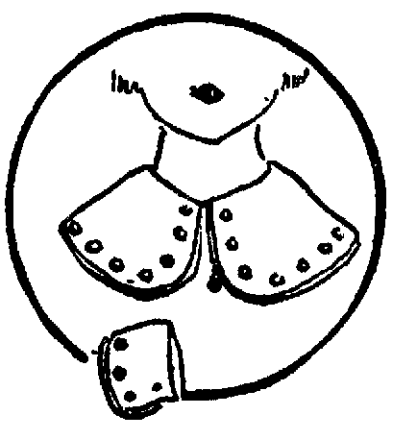

Above, spring jacket in tan braided with red, blue and green plaid coat with scarf collar, and scarlet coat embroidered in bright colors.

IN THE BABY SHOPS

IN most of the hand-made French frocks for babies and little children the front fullness is confined at neck or yoke by means of very fine plaits instead of gathers.

Quite frequently there is no fullness either at front or back, this being taken care of by inverted plaits arranged under each arm at the seam.

The pink that is used for babies is no longer the light candy pink that it used to be—the pink that we associate with pink baby ribbon—but a pink containing a touch of yellow that makes it rather more becoming to most babies.

For the more elaborate wraps and caps silk net over a silk foundation is often used.

Above, red and white polka dot, frock and bloomers bound in red, and yellow taffeta party frock with slippers and fun to match.

FOR THE SUB-FLAPPER

FINE white pique is used for charming little girls' frocks made with tailored simplicity, often having little washable hats to match.

The scalloped hemline is seen in some of the light fluffy frocks. A dotted swiss frock shows tiny trills of organdie at the edge of the scalloped.

Hamstitching bands are sometimes seen on charming frocks of linen, either in white or the clear pastel shades.

BONUS BILL MAY BE DEFEATED

UP FOR VOTE TUESDAY

Many Congressmen Favor Full Cash Payment Option

WASHINGTON—(Associated Press)—Advocates in the house of the proposal to incorporate a full cash payment option in the soldiers' bonus bill received assurance from some senate leaders Saturday that favorable consideration would be given to such a scheme when the bill reaches that body. Meanwhile the opposition to the paid up life insurance bonus bill is reported to the house appeared unbroken.

Under the agreement reached Friday, the bonus bill will come up for a vote Tuesday in the house with amendments prohibited. In view of this procedure, considerable opposition to the measure had developed among veterans in the house, particularly on the Democratic side, and a plan was under consideration to defeat the bill and attempt to bring out from the ways and means committee a measure providing for a full cash payment option. A vote in line with the returns on 1923 incomes. Unprecedented rush gave indications, according to Revenue Collector J. C. Marsh that number of delinquents will be smaller this year than in the past.

A heavy brown overcoat belonging to D. R. Triplett was reported Saturday to the police to have been stolen from the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night. Valued at about $30.

Sunshine class of Zion Lutheran church met last Tuesday evening with Miss Mary Sprague, 673 S. Main st., Needlework was enjoyed. Much was served by the hostess. Next meeting of the class will be held at the home of the president, Miss Constance Mayer, 1305 W. Fifth.

Miss Mildred Gause, Coldwater, visited with her cousin, Miss Ethel Hammill, 525 N. Metcalf-st., during the past week.

Petrograd, Russia, is no more. So as dispatches received by the Lima postoffice. The city will be called Leningrad hereafter in honor of Lenin, late leader of the Red government.

Direct exchange of money orders between the United States and the republic of Lithuania is now possible, postoffice officials have announced.

The measure provides for paid up life insurance policies and cash payments to those not entitled to more than $50. In computing the adjusted service credit, on which the value of the policies will be based, the bill specifies that service any time between April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919, shall be counted, although enlistment must have been made prior to November 12, 1918.

The first sixty days of service cannot be counted.

Another movement got under way today for adoption of a resolution providing immediately for the 25 per cent reduction in income taxes payable this year. Representative Ackerman, Republican, New Jersey, introduced a resolution to eliminate the installments of taxes due September 15, and to refund one fourth of the taxes if paid in full now.

BINGHAM AND LANKER TO PRESENT TRAFFIC PLAN

With seven streets designated as state highways and given right of way over other thoroughfares in the city, Manager Bingham and Police Chief T. A. Lanker are working on a program for establishment of an arterial highway system in Lima with the objective of eliminating accidents and regulating traffic in summer months.

Plans outlined call for certain streets as right-of-way thoroughfares with traffic coming to momentary halts at approaches and gradual elimination of speed at street intersections, where statistics reveal, the majority of accidents take place.

Upon completion of the program it will be presented to an appointed traffic commission and then to city commission for enactment in the municipal traffic code. Manager Bingham intimated.

Friday, wool-marketing discussion at Conant at 7:30 p. m., led by Thomas Grubb.

SPENCER SELECTED AS SUCCESSOR TO LENROOT

WASHINGTON—Senator Spencer, of Missouri, has been selected for membership on the public lands committee which is conducting the oil inquiry. He will take the Republican vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin.

MAN QUITTED FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va.—One more of the series of criminal trials which grew out of the "armed Virginia" in 1921 became history Saturday with the acquittal by a jury of C. Frank Kester, state head of the United Mine Workers' league, of being an accessory to the murder of John Gore.

Mainly About People

The Lima Rotary club will visit Deloit-Wommier Cigar factory Monday afternoon immediately after its regular Monday luncheon at Hotel Xenon, thru the courtesy of the Deloit-Wommier Cigar Co., which extended the invitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Swartz, Barrara Ann Court apts., left Saturday for an eastern trip. Mr. Swartz will do spring buying in New York City.

Mrs. Elsie Hock, nee Koller, Spencer, was removed to St. Rita's hospital here Saturday for an operation for gallstones.

A. W. Harris, Spencer, was taken to St. Rita's hospital Saturday to sustain an operation for appendicitis.

Lima's identification bureau is practically completed and is under the direction of William Keller, who took special training in criminal identification at Columbus during the past fall.

Charging that her husband, from whom she has been separated, has been annoying her, Mrs. J. Forman employed in the jewelry department at the Deloit Store, Saturday called police to the store and was advised to appeal for aid if occurrences were repeated.

Standing room was at a premium Saturday at Lima postoffice while eleven-hour income tax payers stood in line to file their returns on 1923 incomes. Unprecedented rush gave indications, according to Revenue Collector J. C. Marsh that number of delinquents will be smaller this year than in the past.

A heavy brown overcoat belonging to D. R. Triplett was reported Saturday to the police to have been stolen from the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night. Valued at about $30.

Sunshine class of Zion Lutheran church met last Tuesday evening with Miss Mary Sprague, 673 S. Main st., Needlework was enjoyed. Much was served by the hostess. Next meeting of the class will be held at the home of the president, Miss Constance Mayer, 1305 W. Fifth.

Miss Mildred Gause, Coldwater, visited with her cousin, Miss Ethel Hammill, 525 N. Metcalf-st., during the past week.

Petrograd, Russia, is no more. So as dispatches received by the Lima postoffice. The city will be called Leningrad hereafter in honor of Lenin, late leader of the Red government.

INDUSTRIAL GIRLS WILL HEAR PROFESSOR FREEMAN

Topping the Y. W. C. A. program for the week is the open forum to be conducted Sunday afternoon by the Industrial and Business girls club at 4 p. m. The speaker, Prof. Childs Harold Freeman of Ohio Northern university, will talk on "Christianity and Business." Margarette Meyer will sing and Luther Spayde will give a piano solo.

The Y. W. C. A. is extremely fortunate in securing so able a speaker as Prof. Freeman. It was he who addressed the Lima Open Forum last Sunday on the subject of "Labor Unions."

Following is the program for the week: Monday, 2 p. m., meeting of finance committee, Mrs. Oscar Young, chairman, 7 p. m., world fellowship committee meeting; 7 p. m., opera practice; Tuesday, 7 p. m., membership committee, Mrs. C. A. Baker, chairman, 7 p. m., basket ball class, Wednesday, 8:30 p. m., Lenten Bible class, Mrs. Sammie Tucker, leader, 6 p. m., Altar Night, St. Patrick's supper, Talk on "Charm of Clothes" by a good speaker. A style show showing the fashions of yesterday and the fancies and fads of today will be given; 3 p. m., South Blue Triangle business meeting, 3 p. m., South Junior Girl Reserves, Thursday, 12:00, joint meeting of Industrial committee of Federation of Women's clubs and Y. W. C. A. to study effects of unemployment under Mrs. Irene Jackson. Specific cases will be cited; 4:15 p. m., South Blue Triangle will give a tea for the women faculty of South High; Friday, 7 p. m., Tatapochon club practice.

COLLEGE DEBATERS WILL APPEAR AT FORUM HERE

A debate on the League of Nations will feature the next session of the Open Forum. Members of the Bluffton college debating team will have charge of the discussion which will be held in Trinity M. E. church on the afternoon of March 23.

Professor Passon Miller, debating coach of the college, has named two men to each the negative and affirmative sides of the question. They have taken part in many debates throughout the state. After the debate the speakers will answer questions asked by the audience.

IDENTITY OF WRECKED VESSEL REMAINS MYSTERY

BOSTON—The identity of one of two sailing vessels wrecked near Pollock Ripp off Cape Cod in the gales of Tuesday and Wednesday remained a mystery Saturday night. The other had been identified definitely as the six masted schooner Wyomond of Portland, Maine. Life belts bearing the name of the Portland six masted schooner were found among heaps of wreckage washed ashore on Thursday in Madaket harbor, on Nantucket Island.

Another lifebelt with the name Alaska or Alaskan, also was found and this gave rise for a time to the belief that the two masted schooner Alaska of Machias, Maine, engaged in the lumber carrying trade along the coast. Later it was found that the schooner was hauled out at Machias for repairs.

S. S. WORKERS TO CONVENE HERE

One Day Session for Officers and Workers Planned

The Ohio Sunday School Council of Religious Education will gather in Lima on Thursday, March 27, for an all day session for delegates and workers and a public session at night with prominent religious speakers on the program.

Lima is one of the ten cities of the state selected for the meetings which are arranged for bigger and better Sunday schools, better operation of schools of religion and systematic training of boys for church leaders and teachers.

Meeting in Lima is scheduled for Trinity M. E. church, Market and West-st., starting at 10 a. m. Thursday and ending with benediction at 8:45 p. m., according to Allen-co executive committee composed of Rev. S. M. Musselman, Bluffton; Prof. Hirschler, Bluffton; A. S. Chenoweth, Lima; Rev. Lovell Hammond, Lima; J. M. Fowler, Lima; Reed Winegardner, Lima; Miss O. T. Lippincott and Hoadle Camp, Lima.

Prominent religious workers are included in the day's program, and subjects of interest are to be discussed. Digest of the Ohio Council of Religious Education is to be given by members of the state executive committee while interesting side-lights of the accomplishments of the council are to be given by Arthur T. Arnold, Maxwell Hall, A. M. Lorke and I. S. Richmond with local ministers conducting services.

BIG TICKET SALE

Firemen Dispose of 2,000 Tickets to Indoor Circus

Over 200 tickets have been sold for the Firemen's indoor circus and industrial show to be held at the Memorial Hall, March 31, to April 3.

This is the first time the firemen have held an indoor circus, there will be two shows, one in the afternoon and one in the evening each day.

Also all who attend will see the latest things in the industrial world, as there will be 12 industrial display booths. The booths will form a semi-circle around the stage.

Too Much Time Spent On Cakes By Farm Wives

DURIAM, N. H.—The suggestion that farm women spend more time in the making of pies, cakes and cookies than their food value justifies, is made by workers of the state farm extension service. These workers, with the aid of charts kept by representative farmers' wives, have figured that the average farm woman in this state performs nearly 4,000 hours of labor a year, in effect giving her an eleven-hour day, including Sundays and holidays.

The extension workers are trying to work out some means of reducing this burden. A campaign for better food selection is being made, in view of the fact that the charts show an average of four hours a day spent in food preparation.

The arrangement of kitchens and poor equipment is found to be an important factor in the situation. The time spent on sewing, the workers say, can be reduced by education in equipment and methods. Better washing equipment will help in laundry work.

The extension service heard of a farmer who was forced to do the family washing because his wife was ill. She had used her laundry work for 27 years with inadequate equipment, but at the end of two weeks the farmer bought a washing machine.

LAD HURT BADLY WHEN WAGON RUNS OVER HIM

SPENCERVILLE—(Special)—Little Billie Neibharbt, son of Ralph Neibharbt, E. 4th-st., was injured seriously Saturday morning when he was run over by a milk wagon.

The boy tried to climb onto the wagon and slipped and fell under a wheel. The horse started ahead as the lad fell and the wheel passed over his body.

Billie was taken to his father's home and a physician summoned. The extent of his injuries had not been determined definitely late Saturday but it is feared he may have been hurt internally.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. John Hartley, former Lima resident, died Saturday morning at her home in Detroit. Her body is being returned to Lima for funeral services Monday at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Wright was an aunt of John Hartley, former city commissioner.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron-Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back to my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two week's treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money.

Call at once for a bottle of Nuxated Iron at any good drug store.

TED TAKES HIKE BEFORE CHURCH

Ted was up early and took a walk about the city before he went to Sunday school and church. He has become interested in real estate developments thruout the city and plans to make a second inspection trip later in the day. With all new factories and subdivisions Ted believes that a little money invested now will bring him a good income when he gets ready to "save for a rainy day," says Ted.

That reminded him that his prediction on the weather is fair Sunday and Monday with no change in temperature.

COUNTY ASSURED OF $17,000

State Aid in Spencerville Project Promised

Promise of $17,000 state aid for improvement of Spencerville-rd was given county commissioners Friday by L. A. Boulay, state highway director, when they met with him in Columbus.

The money forthcoming represents the difference between the amount allotted by the state on other roads and the actual amount needed under contract prices.

Commissioners said Saturday they expect definite assurance from Boulay and confirmation in writing within a week.

The money allotted will enable the county to pave a three-mile section of the road between the Conant and Kemp-rds.

Commissioners returned from Columbus Saturday after attending the sale of three miles of Bellefontaine-rd.

Low bidders job was Walter Soulen, Ada, Kentucky rock, $32,000; E. J. Hill, Lima, brick, $13,105.52.

Other bids were R. Stone, Lima, $35,627.47; T. B. Putnam, Van Wert, $55,037.43; E. J. Hill, $94,198.77; Frank Frohase, Lima, $99,586.69, all on Kentucky rock. Frank Frohase, brick, $136,008.72.

Boulay, as state highway head will award the contract.

Federal aid amounting to $4,000, on 1,200 yards on the Dixie highway in Bluffton was allowed Friday. The section will be sold by the state soon.

Charles Ash, state resident engineer will go to Bluffton this week to lay the proposition before the town council to learn if it desired to widen the pavement at expense of the property owners.

The proposal was turned down on a previous occasion.

MEMEL TO HAVE ROAD TO NEIGHBORS AGAIN

MEMEL—The territory of Memel involved in controversy between Poland and Lithuania for more than five years soon will have railroad connection with the outside world again. Freight and passenger service will be resumed under an agreement recently signed between Memel and Koenigsberg under an agreement recently signed with the East Prussian authorities.

The service will be over the line formerly operated by the Russian government during the regime of Czar Nicholas II.

RUSSIAN TOWNS RENAMED AS TRIBUTES TO LENIN

LENINGRAD, Russia—Soviet government authorities who, in tribute to the late Bolshevik premier, Nicolai Lenin, changed the name of Peter the Great's capital from Petrograd to Leningrad, are taking steps to see that the decree is obeyed.

Within a short time, it is announced, fines will be imposed for letters presented at the postoffices addressed to Petrograd. All newspaper dispatches from this city already carry the Leningrad date.

A number of other cities have sought to honor Lenin's memory in a similar fashion. Simbirsk, the capital of the province where Lenin was born, has become Lenninsk. The administration of Ekaterinoslavl, named in honor of Catherine the Great, has petitioned to be renamed Lenninsk. In fact, so many similar petitions have come to the central authorities in Moscow that they have announced none will be granted without considerable deliberation.

U. S. GOVERNMENT IDEAS PLAYED

Mason Wants Cabinet Subject to Call of Congress

AMENDMENT PLAN BACKED

Present System Called Relic by Political Writer

(BY J. W. T. MASON)

NEW YORK—(United Press)—A constitutional amendment to compel cabinet officers to appear on the floor of both houses of congress for interpellations concerning the conduct of their departments is being considered by constitutional authorities as the most practical way for the American people to keep the country clear of future scandals. Cabinet officers should be responsible to the people and not solely to the president, these men argue. They can be made responsible to the people by being made responsible to congress.

If the secretaries of the navy and the interior had been at the call of congress for questioning, there would have been no Teapot Dome scandal, it is claimed. If interpellations could have been directed against the proper cabinet officers concerning the inefficient operation of the veterans' bureau and of the shipping board, and of many other departmental weaknesses, the American people would have been able to save their government from successive losses and disrepute, it is held.

RELIC OF ABSOLUTISM

The principle of cabinet officers being solely responsible to the head of the government is a relic of absolutism. It was put into the American constitution to keep the legislative and executive branches of the government entirely separate. Such separation is regarded as a sign of inefficiency in modern governmental operation. The two branches should be made to cooperate, and that can only be done by compelling the executives to be responsible to the legislative branch, which represents the people.

No such scandals as are continuously occupying the time of Washington could happen in Great Britain, advocates of the amendment point out. The cabinet chiefs of Great Britain are directly responsible to parliament. They must make their appearances on the floor of the commons, of the house of lords, and must submit to cross-examination. In that way, the British people are able continuously to check up on the activities of their ministers. No member of the British cabinet can work his own will be-

PRINCE OF WALES AGAIN INJURED

Thrown on Head When His Horse Falls in Race

SUFFERS SLIGHT CONCUSSION

Condition Declared by Physicians As Not Serious

LONDON — (Associated Press) — National concern for the life of the prince received another shock Saturday when the prince of Wales, only just recovered from a serious riding accident, was again injured. The prince, who had fractured his collar bone and got a nasty spill in a previous accident, was thrown from his horse and landed on his head. The public admires the prince, and his injuries are being watched with intense interest. The prince is expected to be in the hospital for some time.

spirit which places a heavy risk on the success of the team. Precisely how the necessary pressure could be applied is hard to imagine, for the prince has a strong will and will not easily be deterred from his favorite sport.

The prince was entered in two events at a steeplechasing Saturday in a meeting at Aberfeldy, near Wokingham, and he met with mishaps in both. Prince Henry also came a cropper, but escaped with little damage. Both princes were unseated early in the afternoon, but were merely shaken up. Prince Henry was to ride in the last event of the day, a steeplechase for the earl of Craven's cup, but withdrew. The prince of Wales, however, was one of the eight starters. He got away well but at the first fence his horse stumbled and fell, throwing the rider heavily on his head and hands.

An ambulance was quickly on the spot, and Wales, bleeding profusely from the nose was taken to a nearby farm house where it was found his injuries were not serious.

The prince tried to get up, protesting to the stretcher bearers that he was quite able to walk, but gentle pressure was applied to keep him on the stretcher until the farm house was reached. His injuries having been attended to by physicians, the prince later in the evening was sufficiently recovered to return to Althorp by motor car and it was then officially ascertained that he was suffering from a slight concussion. His injuries, which include some bruising of the face, are not looked upon as serious, but he will remain at Aldershot over the week end.

HEALTH OF LAFAYETTE PUPILS MUCH IMPROVED

Report of Miss Charlotte Bassett, county health nurse, for work done in Lafayette grade schools, during the week past, shows a general improvement in the health of the pupils over last year's report.

Eighteen out of the 131 examined this year were found to be normal in every respect, as against only eleven out of 128 last year. Following are the records: decayed teeth, 79, last year, 77; abnormal throats, 54, last year, 73; impaired breathing, 10, last year, 8; enlarged glands, 2, last year, 3; defective vision, 37, last year, 29; underweight, 45, last year, 44; without defects, 27, last year, 18; corrections made, 12, last year, 21.

Miss Bassett will visit the Bluffton grade schools this week, while Dr. Sutter, county health commissioner, will examine High School students during the latter part of the week.

Upon their arrival, Holles is horrified to see that Sylvia is an old sweetheart. The servants of the Duke reveal the colonel's unconscious. When Buckingham attempts to embrace Sylvia, her dress falls from her shoulders revealing a purple slash, token of the plague.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"He'll still swarm, Larry," he said querulously. Larry approached, pulling at his pipe. He growled a low oath, expressive of contempt and indifference.

"What odds?" he asked cynically. "He'll be cold enough or ever we comes to Aldgate." And he laughed as he took the doublet Nick flung at him.

The next moment their filthy hooks were in the garments they had left upon Holles, and they had added him to the terrible load that already half-filled the cart.

They backed the vehicle out of the alley, and then trundled on, going eastward, their destination being the pit at Aldgate.

They were already approaching their destination, and the first light of dawn, pallid, cold, and as motionless as a stone, was beginning to dispel the darkness, when, by the side of the cart, or from the flow of blood where one of those foul hooks had scraped his thigh, or yet from bleeding Nature, quivering his wits that he might save himself from suffocation, the Colonel was aroused from his drunken trance.

He awakened, thrusting fiercely for air, and seeking to dislodge a heavy mass that lay across his face. He braced himself and heaved more strenuously, until at length he won clear, so far, at least, as his head was concerned.

He saw the paling stars above and was able at last to breathe freely and without effort. But the burden which he had succeeded in thrusting from his head, now lay across his breast and the weight of it was troublesome and painful. He put forth a hand, and realizing by the sense of touch that what he grasped was a human arm, he shook it vigorously. Eliciting no response, he began to grow angry.

"Afoot there, ye drunken lobl," he growled in a thick voice. "Get up, I say. Get up! O's my life! D'ye take me for a bed that you put yourself to sleep across me? Gerrup!" he roared, his anger increasing before that continued lack of response. "Gerrup, or I'll . . ."

He ceased abruptly, blinking in the glare of light that suddenly struck across his eyes from the flaming head of the torch which had been thrust upward. The cart had come to a standstill, and above the tall sides of it, rising into his field of vision, came the two horrible figures of the carters, whom the sound of his voice had brought to mount the wheels of the vehicle.

In plaintive impatience came the nasal voice of one of those ghoul.

"I told ye the gentry-cove was warm, Larry." "Ay! Well? And what now?" quoth the other querulously.

"Why, fling him out, of course." But Holles was no longer in need of their assistance. Their words and what he saw of that grim load of which he was a part made him realize at last his ghastly situation. He heaved himself clear, and struggled, gasping, to his knees. Thence, he gripped the side of the cart, pulled himself to his feet, flung a leg over and leapt down, stumbling as he did so, and sprawling full length upon the ground.

By the time he had gathered himself up, the cart was already trundling on again, and the peals of hoarse, obscene laughter from the carters were ringing hideously thru the silent street.

Mechanically he trudged on and on, aimlessly now, a man walking in a nightmare.

At last he paused, without knowledge or care of where he was; utterly bereft of strength, he sank presently into the shelter of the doorway of a deserted house, and there fell asleep.

When next he awakened, he was lying in the full glare of a sun that was already high in the heavens. He looked about him, and found himself in surroundings that were utterly strange to him, so that he could form no notion of whither he had strayed.

In mid-street stood a man in a steeple hat dressed in black, leaning upon a red wand and regarding him attentively.

"What ails you?" the man asked him, seeing him awake and conscious. Disoriented, Holles glared at him. "The sight of you," he snapped, and struggled stiffly up. "Naught else."

Yet, even as he gained his feet, a giddiness assailed him. He steadied himself a moment against the doorpost: then reeled and sank down again upon the step that had been his couch. For some few seconds he sat there hunched, marveling at his condition. Then, acting on a sudden thought, he tore open the breast of his shirt.

"I bed!" he shouted wildly. When next he looked up, he was laughing, a ringing, exultant laugh. "I lied! There is something else. Look!" And he pulled his shirt wider apart, so that the man might see what he had found. And that was the last thing that he remembered.

On his breast the flower of the plague had blossomed while he slept.

CHAPTER XXVII
The Pest-House

He was ensnared for Colonel Holles on some plane other than that of mundane life a period of fevered activity, of dread encounters and terrible combats, of continual strife with a relentless opponent dressed in black and white—men who wore the countenance of His Grace of Buckingham and who was ever on the point of slaying him, yet, being unmerciful, never slayed.

The fact is that Holles lived in a world of delirium, hence at last he awakened one day to sanity—awakened to die, as he thought, when he had taken stock of his surroundings and realized them by the aid of memories he assembled of his last waking conscious hours.

He found himself lying on a pallet, near a window, thru which he had a glimpse of foliage and of a strip of indigo sky.

Tears gathered in his eyes, and rolled down his wasted cheeks. Steps were softly approaching his bedside. Some one was leaning over him, he turned his head once more and looked up. And then a great fear took possession of him, so that for a moment his heart seemed to contract. Aloud, he explained to himself that apparition.

"I am at my dreams again!" he complained in a whisper. As his bedside stood a woman, young and comely in the gray homespun, with the white bands and bib and collar that made up the garb of Puritans. Her face was small and pale and oval, her eyes were long, of a color between blue and green, very wistful now in their expression, and from under the wings of her coffin-shaped one or two heavy chestnut curls, to lie upon her white neck. A fine cold hand sought his own where it lay upon the cotter's voice that was full of soft, sad music answered him.

"Nay, Randal. You are awake at last—thank God!" "I know he saw that those long wistful eyes were swim in tears.

"Where am I, then?" he asked, in his first real bewilderment since awakening.

"In the pest-house in Bunhill Fields," she told him, which only served to increase the confusion in his mind.

"That . . . I can understand that. I have the plague, I know. I remember being stricken with it. But you? How come you here . . . in a pest-house?"

"There was nowhere else for me to go, after . . . after I left that house in Knight Ryder Street." And very briefly she explained the circumstances.

"And you tended me? You?" incredulous amazement lent strength to his feeble voice.

"Did not you tend me?" she answered him. He made a gesture of repudiation with one of his hands, grown so pale and thin.

"Then he looked at her with piteous eyes. 'I scarce dare hope that you'll forgive me all . . .'"

"But I do, Randal. I do. I have long since forgiven you. I gave you my forgiveness and gratitude when I knew what you had done for me, how you risked your life in repatriation. If I could forgive you then, can I harbor resentment now that I know all? I do forgive—freely, utterly, completely. Randal dear."

"Then I am content. What matter all my unrealized dreams of crowned light-erantry, all my high-flown ambitions? To this must I have come in the end. I was a fool not to have taken the quiet good to which I was born. Then might we have been happy, Nan, and neither of us would have felt the need to seek the hollow triumphs of the world."

"You talk as if you were to die," she reproved him thru his tears. "But you shall get well again."

"That surely were a crowning folly when I may die so happily." And then the doctor supervened to interrupt them, and to confirm circumstantially her assertion that Holles was now out of danger.

The truth is that what he had done for her when she was plague-stricken, she had now done for him. By unremitting care of him in the endless hours of his delirium, reckless of how she exhausted herself in the effort, she had brought him safely thru the Valley of the Shadow, and already, even as he spoke of dying, deluded by his weakness and the great multitude that attends exhaustion into believing that already he stood upon the threshold, his recovery was assured.

SUNDAY
The Father's Love for The Son

Read Mt. 3:7-17. Text: 3:17. This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

"His love is, in the teaching of Jesus, the love of a father for a child whom the father plans to gather into a great enterprise which it is his fundamental ambition to accomplish. Now if a son fails to work with his father in an enterprise in which his father ought to have his co-operation, the father suffers a grievous wrong."

MYDIFICATION: From the earliest days of his ministry Jesus was conscious of his sonship and of the love of his Father God. It was this love which he sought to reveal to his followers. How different was this idea of God from any that the world had known before!

PERSONAL QUESTION: What are the things which I prefer above the approval of God?

PRAYER: Our Father God, may we too love thy voice and be conscious of thy approaching love. May thy presence enter our hearts and may thy truth be as bread unto our lives. May we have a holy ambition to be true sons of thine and may our feet be ever found in the way of thy commandments. Amen.

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

MY DEAR HUSBAND:

I have a very nice plan to propose to you. The nurse who has been taking care of your mother I find is without relatives, and she has become tired of the life and hard work which public nursing entails. I sounded her the other day on the subject, and find that at least for a year she would very much like to settle down in some quiet, easy place like your mother's home.

She is a very sensible young woman about 30 years old, and she seems to get along with your mother perfectly. Indeed, I think it is she who made your mother so gracious to me lately.

I think she would be glad to become your mother's companion and nurse, when nursing is needed, for about $75 a month. I am sure we can in some way pay this to your mother. It would make her so much easier, and her life pleasanter, and I am sure it would take a great deal of care off your shoulders, dear Jack.

To me, dear, there is nothing in the world so easy to give as money, and yet most of us hang on to it so tenaciously. I'm sure I can economize and pay half of this out of my allowance, for the real comfort of knowing that your mother is happy. Don't you think it is a good scheme?

By the way, dear, I wonder if you remember when we were first married what a terrible quarrel we had and how particularly ugly you were when I innocently opened one of your letters. I think you must have forgotten it; otherwise you wouldn't have sent me Miss Perier's letter opened.

Oh, Jack! Jack! I'm afraid you will never learn that what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. You might have known I would have sent you the letter; then why be so curious about it?

I'm wonder if you recognized the handwriting on the envelope. However, I don't think it was any more right for you to open my letters than you thought it was right in opening yours. Please don't do it in the future.

I am glad you forwarded me the cables from mother and Alice. My sister is a sly little puss, and I'm almost sure now that she's been in love with Karl ever since she was a little girl. They're coming home immediately and will be married directly they arrive and arrangements can be made.

All the good wishes that I can give her, Jack, are bottled into one, which is: I hope she'll be as happy as we have been.

I wish I was there now, and have you take me in your arms and ask me in that boyish voice of yours, "Do you really mean that, Leslie, that we've been happy?" For I want to tell you I would not exchange you with all your faults for all the Karl Whiteys in the world. I'm coming home Saturday.

Lovingly, LESLIE.

Liver Trouble Causes High Blood Pressure

Medical science knows that poisonous waste in our bodies would actually cause death in a few days if not eliminated by Nature's processes. Because it destroys these deadly poisons, the liver is our most important organ—the body's wonderful purifier.

Science now understands how the liver prevents the formation of body poisons that cause disease of the heart, kidneys, blood vessels and are chiefly responsible for premature old age.

When the liver becomes weak, the poisons are sucked up by the blood and health is broken down. Guided by this knowledge, medical science has found the only way to help the liver create the purifying bile without which no human can live. Physicians know that the liver cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substance has been discovered which will at once increase the vital bile supply. The discovery is purified ox gall.

Get from your druggist a package of Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall. In 24 hours the poison toxins will be removed. Blood purification will begin. Sallow skin will clear. You will feel so much better you will know you have found the cause of your ill health. Dioxol tablets are harmless, tasteless and cost less than two cents each.

Present you the utmost in fine cars

THERE are 23,000 of us building Studebaker cars. Most of us are partners in the business. Thousands of us are stockholders. All of us, after a certain time, get dividends on wages.

All of us, after two years, get vacations with pay. All of us, after one year, get dividends on wages. After five years, that annual dividend adds 10% to our earnings.

The company spends vast sums on co-operative work with us. When we retire, we get pensions.

So Studebaker cars represent the best that we, in combination, know how to offer you.

Some of us belong to management. If we do better than expected, we get 10% of the excess.

So every man among us does his best to make Studebaker cars supreme.

Our fine backing

Behind us is an honored name. For 72 years Studebaker has been the leader in quality and class.

We have $90,000,000 of assets. We have $50,000,000 in model plants. We have 12,500 up-to-date machines. So Studebaker cars are built by modern and efficient methods.

We have an engineering department which costs $500,000 yearly. That to maintain and develop Studebaker standards.

We subject Studebaker cars to 30,000 inspections. That requires 1,200 men. All told over 70,000 machine and hand operations are performed in manufacture of a Studebaker car. In so many operations, though each one is small, there is a great opportunity for economies and savings.

We have a $10,000,000 body plant, to maintain the Studebaker standard of coach work. There sons, fathers and grandfathers are working together, to build such bodies as Studebaker always built.

Those bodies are finished by many operations, including 15 coats of paint and varnish.

The open bodies are upholstered

See how Studebaker gained top place

145,167 people last year paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

FAN FODDER FOR RADIO FANS

Broadcasting of College Talent Breaks Ground for Radiophone Novelty Throughout the West

An innovation in broadcasting which is creating a great deal of interest among listeners in the western part of the country may be attributed to the arrangement of the University of California Radio Club providing for the radiophone transmission of college talent and happenings about the campus.

On the approach of the football season of 1923 the radio broadcasting stations of the Bay region became interested in the possibilities of broadcasting the "Big Game." The officers of the Associated Students offered the radio club first consideration of this opportunity. The members of the radio club realized that an organization with meagre finances would be unable to give the university its proper place in the field of radio. Accordingly the radio club has entered into an agreement with the officials in charge of the "Oakland Tribune's" station KLV which enables it to co-operate with the management in the broadcasting of campus news and entertainment.

The programs are prepared by the University of California Radio Club from talent obtainable on the campus and are conducted by the club from the Alumni Room of Stephens Union. From this room the music and speech is carried by wire telephone directly to the radio station in Oakland where it is converted into radio waves of 300 meters and sent out broadcast over the whole western part of America.

These programs from Stephens Union have been heard in Alaska, Mexico and on a few occasions on the Atlantic coast. It is believed the radio club, now affiliated with the American Radio Relay League, is doing a service for the University, the Alumni, the Associated Students and its own members will not only justify its existence but accomplish worthy work in this field.

Lack of Power Handicap to Western Samoa Radio Fans; Windmill Solves Problem in One Case

Radio interest in Western Samoa has been stimulated to a considerable extent recently on account of the reception of broadcast programs from New Zealand and the United States according to a report of Quincy F. Roberts, American Vice Consul in charge, a copy of which has just been received by the American Radio League thru the State Department.

The development of radio on the Islands was very slow prior to Jan. 1913 owing to the many restrictions which were in force up to that time and even now the owners of receiving and even now the owners of receiving as well as transmitting equipment are licensed under the Administration of Western Samoa. This territory, under a mandate issued by the League of Nations, has been created a radio district of New Zealand and is of necessity subject to its regulations in this respect.

The licenses are issued for one year and other than that the only other restriction upon receiving stations is as the report states, "no licenses will be granted to use circuits which unduly energize the receiving antenna, an example of such type is that in which one coil of a two coil tuner is used as a reaction coil, inductively coupled to the antenna coil and which re-radiates." Amateur radio transmission is not permitted between the hours of 7 p. m. and 8 p. m. N.Z.M.T.

One of these receiving sets has been installed at the American Con-sulate at Apia, Samoa, being a regenerative receiver with a range of wave length between 200 to 3,000 meters. The battery is charged with a small gasoline engine and a 6 volt generator. The lack of electric current is deplored as a serious handicap.

Plate voltage for tube transmitters is not available, according to the consul, and the short life of dry batteries in the tropical climate prohibits their use. One radio receiving fan created a small windmill and harnessed it to a motor car generator, while another used a small Pelton wheel.

What is most surprising is that receiving conditions permit reception of programs from broadcast stations at Kansas City, Chicago, Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Los Angeles and Calgary, Canada. Reception of WJAZ has been accomplished on a single circuit regenerative receiver with two stages of audio frequency.

ON WITH THE DANCE

Listeners in who long have enjoyed the programs of dance music, as broadcast by WJZ, and furnished by the orchestras of the Hotels Waldorf-Astoria and Astoria will be pleased to learn that stations WJZ and WJY, dual stations at the Radio Corporation of America, have made arrangements to broadcast the programs of practically every famous hotel grill and supper club in New York. Some of the orchestras to be broadcast are those of the Hotels McAlpin, Pennsylvania, Alhambra, Ambassador, Majestic and others.

As it is almost impossible for these orchestras to go to the broadcast station in the broadcast hours which are also the hours when they are required at their respective hotels, these programs are picked up by direct wire connection with the studio of the radio station. This is also much more interesting to the listener as the clapping can be heard at the end of the selections and a little imagination can picture the scene at the grill room.

WET RADIO WAVES

The waves or ripples caused by throwing a stone in a pool of water have long been used as an illustration to the waves emitted by a radio transmitting station, but it was up to a Leipzig woman to find that water waves could be the agent by which the radio waves could be converted into music. This Leipzig woman was running water into the bath tub for her daily bath when she heard faint classical music, after she again regained her composure she found that she could control the volume of sound as well as of water by turning the faucet off or on. Of course after forgetting all about her bath, and after playing with her new radio receiver, new model bath tub style, (I suppose you could call it a two circuit if it had both hot and cold water faucets) she had to tell her neighbors all about it; as a result the plumbers of Leipzig are doing a rushing business. Also the man of the house is kicking about the water bill.

Another Leipzig woman reports that for a week she heard music every time she took the telephone receiver off of the hook. In both cases this was in warm weather when the ground was soaked with water, since the ground has been frozen no concerts have been coming thru.

A Youngstown man who is familiar with the radio code, says that he heard radio telegraphic signals when he turned on the hot water faucet in his home, but was afraid to say anything about it until he had heard about the happenings at Leipzig. (I don't blame him I would have been too.)

If it keeps up at this rate the plumbers advertisements will read something like this—"Get rid of that bothersome interference. New Styles in Three Circuit Non-Oscillating Waterdyne Bathtubs."

POPE TO SPEAK BY RADIO

The Chicago Tribune recently received a press dispatch to the effect that a radio transmitter, powerful enough to carry the voice of the pope to the remotest corners of the earth, is being installed in the Vatican.

California Amateur Talks With England

Recently a Los Gatos, Calif., amateur, Charles Whysall Radio 8TV got permission from the government to transmit during quiet hours on two nights, in an attempt to communicate with French S.A.B. Altho he failed to hook up with the Frenchman, he did communicate with an English amateur. This work was done on 100 meters, and was part of extensive tests now being made by the American Radio Relay League.

This is especially interesting as 8TV is an Ohio boy, being son of George Whysall, 8CMI of Marion, who is the president of the Columbus, Marion and Bucyrus Railway Co. Whysall is also an active member of the American Radio Relay League, as he is City Correspondent for the Publicity Department of Ohio.

BODY CAPACITY

Does your receiver squeal when you reach for your condenser dial? If it does it shows that your condenser is hooked up wrong. If the condenser is in the aerial circuit, that is between the primary tuning coil and the aerial or between the primary coil and ground, be sure and connect the rotary plates to the ground. If it is in the secondary circuit connect the rotary plates to the filament or to some lead that eventually goes to the filament. In sets using loop aerials the rotary plates should go to the filament. Altho it is better not to have a shield on your panel, as in some cases it reduces signal strength, if you still get body capacity after connecting your condensers correctly, the only thing to do is to put a thin shield of tin foil, copper or aluminum and then connect it to the ground post. Care should be taken in doing this so that the shafts of the instruments will not touch the shield where they go thru the holes in the panel.

EUREKA

At last a way has been found to keep peace in the family when dad wants to hear the baseball scores and mother wants to listen to the latest fashion hints. A Canadian amateur, and member of the American Radio Relay League, who wanted to log DX amateur stations at the same time that the family were listening to broadcast programs in the other room, made the discovery. Using receiving sets that have untuned antenna circuits, he connected the antenna coils of both sets in series; that is the antenna to the antenna post on receiver number one then the ground post of receiver number one to the aerial post of number two then the ground post of number two to the ground. This stunt works fine as long as you don't try to listen to the same program in which case both operators will hear nothing.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR A. R. R. L. MEMBERS

By 40F
One—FRIENDSHIPS. Let each man so conduct his station that sincere friendships will grow out of our relations on the air. The greatest thrill in amateur radio is in the making of such friendships.
Two—EXPERIMENTATION. Never forget that half of the joy in radio lies in experimentation. The pleasure and experience gained from such work will never be regretted.
Three—FOREIGN RELATIONS. We must not forget out foreign brothers. For years American amateurs have had the co-operation of foreign amateurs but have given little in return; let no effort be spared to bring about inter-continental communication.

Four—YOUR NEIGHBOR. Let every amateur take it upon himself as a personal matter to see that co-operation, with the utmost sincerity, is given to the broadcast listener, who deserves his rights, even as we deserve and claim ours.

Five—TRAFFIC. The American Radio Relay League should advance some practical method for assuring the delivery of messages. Let us all work for it.

Six—MEMBERSHIP. Every amateur should take it upon himself personally to bring into this organization those who are just beginning—to support the league by actions as well as by sympathy.

Seven—DEVELOPMENT. Build your own equipment as carefully as you can.

Eight—INTERFERENCE. The interference problem begins at your own sending set.

Nine—CO-OPERATION. Let us put our personal enjoyment in our pockets and give the co-operation of every amateur in America where the league conducts a test or an experiment.

Ten—PROPORTION. Let no man among us lose sight of the greater things in life, friendships, education and health. These are the things that in later years will enable us all to continue our true enjoyment of amateur radio.

While the above was originally written especially for the amateur it also holds good for all radio fans and when boiled down to its real meaning, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." It is a mighty good thing for humanity in general.

BROADCAST LISTENERS AND AMATEURS MEET

Neutrodyne Receiver Described —

Interference Discussed

Broadcast listeners and the amateurs of Lima held a get-together meeting last Tuesday night in the club room of the Amateur Radio club of this city. About fifteen listeners and practically all of the local amateurs were there, and a very interesting and instructive meeting was held.

L. W. Hughes, a local amateur, gave an instructive talk on the principles and theory of the neutrodyne receiving set. C. E. Nichols, the assistant division manager of the American Radio Relay League, gave an excellent talk on the "Work of the Amateur, and What He Has Already Accomplished."

WILL GET PROGRAM

Combined engineers' organization of Cincinnati under the auspices of the N. A. S. E., have arranged with the Crosley Radio Corporation, station WLW, to broadcast a part of the program which is being held at the Grand hotel Wednesday evening, March 19, at Cincinnati. The program will consist of short addresses by National President Royal H. Holbrook, and National Secretary Fred W. Raven.

WELFARE LEAGUE PLANS CARNIVAL

Spring Entertainment Takes Place Of Penny Event

JUNIORS WORKING ON PLAY

Lecture Course Lags, Debating Class To Be Formed

Embryonic Al Jolson, Faderewski and other notable artists will reign supreme at Central High Friday evening when the annual spring carnival of the Girl's Welfare League is given in the high school auditorium.

It has been the custom to give a penny carnival every May but for various reasons this year was called off and the spring carnival will be given instead.

The Welfare girls, under the direction of their president, Hazel Van Gunten, have arranged a series of entertainments and acts that they think will please the most critical high school pleasure seeker.

Practice for the various acts has been going on for the last two weeks and it reports are true some real fun should develop.

A basketball game between the faculty team and the varsity five will be the main feature of the evening. The faculty team has been winning with regularity but must defeat the varsity before clanking the school title.

A minstrel will be the first number on the program. It will be followed by the 1924 Style Show and Hiker's Follies. A musical treat will follow and a series of stunts has been promised by the feminine faculty members.

Roots that will be placed about the auditorium will be refreshments, candy, fortune telling, white elephant sale, and fish pond.

First practices for the Junior play last week brought out the expected display of dramatic talent. Miss Izora Shumaker, director of the play, said:

As this is the means by which money is made for the annual Junior hop, given in honor of the graduating class, juniors are expected to enter into the play with all enthusiasm. Tickets probably will go on sale Monday or Tuesday and each junior will be asked to sell a large number.

Disappointment at the amount of pledges sold for next year's lecture course was shown by Principal R. E. Offenbauer Friday. At the last number of the 1923-24 course held Thursday night pledges were passed out for the next year's course and only 280 were returned signed.

Students will be asked to take the pledges and have their friends sign them. At least 800, and a 1000 pledges if possible, are wanted. An opinion has been granted Central on the course by the Redpath bureau and it is considered one of the most pretentious series of programs ever arranged. Offenbauer is anxious to sign the contracts.

A long desired class has been finally arranged at Central—a debating class. The school's forensic artists have been asking for a debating class for the last two years and altho one was promised for the beginning of this year it was put off.

Principal Offenbauer stated Friday that the class would start soon under the direction of Miss Helen Craig of the English department. Several orators have already signed up for the class which will probably meet three times a week.

The Annual Mirror probably will go to press within the next month. Robert B. Shaffer, editor, stated Friday afternoon. Photographs have been completed and are now in the hands of the engravers.

Makeup on the various class panels will be started next week by Shaffer and Russel R. Benson, of the Pontiac Engraving Co. Class histories and club articles are beginning to come in and in general the publication is taking on definite form.

Richard H. Cantieny, business manager, announces advertising is coming along nicely and that the quota should be reached before many days.

One of the most interesting mass meetings of the year was held Friday afternoon during the first period when Prof. Balmond, who is conducting evangelistic services at Trinity M. E. church, gave a series of vocal solos and led the school in singing favorite songs. His work was well liked and he was called back several times to sing.

A representative of Wooster college, Mr. Wye, an instructor, spoke to Central students on the value of a cultural education and the atmosphere around which it should be gained.

Elmer McClain, Lima attorney, gave a talk to senators Wednesday on the debate in which they will participate sometime in April. He told them the methods of getting material for debates.

Proof that members of the Astronomy club are acquainted with all the latest happenings in astronomy was seen when answers to roll call Wednesday were given with latest astronomical developments. R. J. Theibert, leader of the club, says that his club will soon know enough to locate a new star or something of that sort.

"The Great Doughnut Corporation," a one-act farce, will be presented before the Troubadour Dramatic club Wednesday by a capable cast including Ray Kersole, Frances Christen, Merle Morrison, Pauline Gans and Janis Hammack.

It is said that this is the funniest play attempted this year. Miss Marie Bechtel is directing the production.

WATER MAIN EXTENSIONS START MONDAY ON ELM-ST

Sufficient waterworks material has been received by the city for all proposed extensions of six-inch mains in the north end of the city, it was announced Saturday at city hall.

Work is to start Monday on E. Elm-st and after completion of extensions on intersecting streets the waterworks department plans to finish up work on Central-av and Union-st.

Approximately $75,000 in waterworks extensions comprises the program to meet with the rapid growth of the city. Extensions are promised on 44 streets and the Baxter addition.

SCOUTS' COLUMN

CONDUCTED BY HEADQUARTERS

A point contest is under way for every troop under jurisdiction of Lima council. Formal inspection were made during the past week of troops 1, 3, 6, and 8 in Lima, and troops 1 and 2 in Wapakoneta by officials of the council. At these inspections it was announced that the contest would begin April 1 and continue until June 21. Inspections would come at no stated interval, but would be in the form of surprise events. Points will be given first on cleanliness of uniform, person, equipment, and quarters; second upon wearing of badge and insignia; third upon method and thoroughness of the record of the troop. To the troop winning the contest some form of troop equipment to be designated later will be given.

Arrangements have been completed for the truck hike for all merit badge scouts, May 2 and 3. If necessary, a special court of Review and Examination will be held Thursday, May 1 in order to pass the second class scouts into first class and merit badge work.

Several entries for the bird house contest have come into headquarters, but there is a severe shortage in the bird housing situation and the executive observed Mr. and Mrs. Hollin Red Breast, Mrs. Jenny Rupp, Mr. and Mrs. Blu Jay and several other couples anxiously looking for quarters during the past week. It is up to the Scouts of Lima to assist in relieving this housing problem. High rentals in the form of prizes will make it worth while.

Court of examination and review on all first class and merit badge work of scouts to come before the court of honor on March 25 will meet at headquarters, March 22 from 2 to 4 p. m. The court will consist of merit badge examiners, commissioner and deputy commissioners, and their recommendations will go to the court of honor. Notify headquarters of you are to take examination before this body.

These near spring days begin to stir in us the camp spirit. Three arrangements with the executive board, the camping and activities committee announces that camp will open about June 28 at the scout reservation on Lake St. Marys. Three periods will be run consisting of ten days each. The charge will be $7 per period. Arrangements have been made so that if 40 per cent of any troop will register and go to camp a special discount of a $1.00 per period per scout will be made so that the cost will be $6.00 instead of $7.00.

Troops 6 and 13 will each conduct test hikes during the coming week.

Troop 8 is adding new scouts at each meeting. Earnest Peter and Thomas Jones are acting assistants to Scoutmaster McMillon. Scoutmaster John T. Carter, troop 2, has been awarded veteran badge.

Headquarters received a telegram

Saturday morning stating that Chief Scout Executive James E. West thru the courtesy of Westinghouse station KDKA will broadcast a personal message to all scout leaders in the United States on Tuesday evening, March 18 at 9 o'clock, Eastern time. This message will also be re-broadcast from all other Westinghouse stations. Headquarters is endeavoring to make arrangements to pick up this message on a loud speaker set for the benefit of those scout leaders who do not own sets of their own.

Troop 1 has secured the assistance of C. F. Shelly as assistant scoutmaster. Shelly is taking the work at the Scoutmaster school and will bring a new enthusiasm and vision into that troop.

Money and Feathers

An Indian was told that white men slept on feathers. He experimented one night by placing a feather under his blanket, but he found that this did not add to his comfort. He did not realize that it was an accumulation of feathers which make a comfortable bed.

People are told today that by saving money they will add to their future comfort. They make a few deposits but notice no increase in their comfort. They do not realize that saving to be successful, must become a regular habit, and that saving which will bring about future comfort include the investment of surplus funds or savings.

One of the greatest pleasures in our business is the knowledge that by interesting a man in purchasing our preferred stock on the payment plan, we are helping him to form the saving habit and insuring him against future adversity.

WARNING GIVEN ON BABY CHICKS

Care in Buying Commercially Hatched Urged by U. S.

SOME GUARANTEE QUALITY

Others Are Not so Scrupulous, Government Says

LIMA NEWS BUREAU
Albee-Bldg.
Washington, D. C.

Ohio farmers and poultry fanciers are cautioned to exercise great care in the purchase of commercially hatched baby chicks in a general warning issued by the federal department of agriculture.

The rapid growth of commercial hatching and the increasing reliance of poultry raisers and farmers for their new crop of chicks have attracted individuals to the business who are declared by federal officials to be none too scrupulous in their methods.

It is because of the fact that farmers are buying baby chicks from commercial hatcheries in such large numbers that the officials of the department feel the necessity for urging them to exercise great care in deciding where to buy this year's supply. It is estimated that the output of these hatcheries will be double last year's production.

DEPENDS ON EGGS
The success of a flock depends entirely upon the kind of eggs from which the chickens have been hatched, say federal officials. They point out that many of the hatcheries have their business well organized and are able to guarantee the quality of the chicks. Others are not so particular where they purchase the eggs they use and are not able to guarantee high quality stock, say federal officials.

Investigators of the department find that some hatcheries buy ordinary eggs, paying slightly more than market prices for them, and sell the chicks from them as high-grade, bred to lay stock. Farmers who buy it are "stung," a fact they will not realize until it is too late to be remedied, and federal officials assert that those contemplating buying baby chicks should be advised early to make sure of selecting a reliable hatchery.

They are urged to insist upon a satisfactory statement beforehand from the hatchery as to the quality of eggs used, making certain that they are from a standard-bred flock with trap-nest records, and that it was in good breeding condition.

Evidence has been gathered by the federal department disclosing that some hatcheries turn out many thousands of baby chicks while maintaining a relatively small flock of breeding hens. In such instances, federal officials say, it is obvious that they have been compelled to secure their eggs from flocks over which they exercise no supervision.

SAFEGUARD EXPECTED
Eventually, it is expected, proper safeguards will be placed about the commercial hatchery business, so that the unscrupulous breeder may be given out. Each year sees fewer and fewer chicks hatched under hens, and the hatcheries are taking their place, to a certain extent, in the smaller incubators which are commonly operated on farms.

In fact, say federal officials, the hatchery end has become one of the most profitable features of the poultry business, and it is this fact that has brought in the fakirs and frauds who are marketing chicks hatched from the eggs of scrub hens as first-class poultry stock.

In this, as in all other matters, it is real economy to buy from reliable dealers, even at higher prices. In the opinion of federal officials, they add that the well-bred baby chick is worth a score of scrubs, such as are being turned out by some hatcheries.

ELECTRIC CODE ENACTMENT EXPECTED MONDAY NIGHT

Passage under suspension of the amended electric installation ordinance fathered by City Manager C.
A. Bingham is looked for at commission meeting Monday night.

The measure has been given two trial readings and changes made in minor details but the general application of the code as to a standard method of electrical wiring and elimination of fire hazards is the same as originally introduced.

While the measure is not retroactive the city has power under its provisions to order removal of extremely dangerous hazards in public buildings.

HEARING RESTORED OFTEN IN 24 HOURS

Amazing Results Secured In One Day
By Use of Virex Formerly Known As Rattle Snake Oil.

Deafness and Head Noises need not be dreaded any longer since the discovery of a widely known physician. Now it is possible for some of the most obstinate cases of deafness to be relieved in a day's time by the application of a prescription formerly known as Rattle Snake Oil. This treatment is meeting with wide success all over the country.

Mr. D. Dey, a Nebraska resident, 67 years old, says: "I have used the treatment for only two weeks and my hearing is restored perfectly.
The relief was almost instantaneous and now the head noises have disappeared. My catarrh, a case of many years standing, is improving wonderfully."

Mr. Ben Jackson, who lives in Indiana, says, "Before I used Virex I could hear nothing. After ten days I could hear my watch tick."

Angeline Johnson, Mississippi resident had been stone deaf for eighteen years. She says, "Virex has stopped my head noises and I can hear the train whistle 3 1/2 miles away."

Roy Fisher, Iowa, man, says, "I hadn't heard a watch tick for eleven years—now I can lay my watch on the table and hear it plainly."

Mr. W. A. Lumpkin, of Oklahoma, says, "After being deaf 38 years, I used your treatment only a few days and hear fairly well."

Mr. Anthony Chapman, of Michigan, says, "The terrible head noises have stopped entirely and my hearing is practically back to normal."

Deaf Baby Now Hears
Mrs. Ola Valentine, of Arkansas, says, "My little boy, now 5 years old, had been deaf since about 4 months of age. Now he hears very well and is learning to talk."

Mr. Mather Pelley says, "My young son, deaf for years, has used Virex for only three days and he hears almost as well as ever before."

Such amazing reports come from all over this country and Canada.
The prescription which is known as Virex, is easily used at home and seems to work like magic in its rapidity on people of all ages.

So confident are we that Virex will restore your hearing quickly, and to introduce this remarkable treatment to a million more sufferers, we will send a large $2.00 treatment for only $1.00 on ten days' free trial. If the results are not satisfactory the treatment costs nothing.
Send no money—just your name and address to the Dale Laboratories, 1554 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and the treatment will be mailed at once. Use it according to the simple directions. If at the end of 10 days your hearing is not relieved, just send it back and your money will be refunded without question.
This offer is fully guaranteed, so write today and give this wonderful compound a trial. adv.

Return of "Blossom Time"
Is Feature of Week at

THEN VAUDEVILLE

"Who's Who," Comedy Farce Is "Big Time Revue" at Orpheum

THE week just past was notable so far as theatricals are concerned thru the presentation of "The Cat and the Canary" and the "Gingham Girl," both are standard attractions and both rated among the stellar successes of the season. It is perhaps proper to say that the "Gingham Girl" pleased and was one of the most enjoyable entertainments of the whole season.

This week comes a return engagement of "Blossom Time." Folioes have been written of this operetta by the most eminent of contemporary writers and it is pleasant to note that they all agree in the fact that it stands as one of the most important, most satisfactory and yet been constructed by an American.

The majority of the music is, of course, the work of the immortal Franz Schubert himself. With this understanding criticism would be obvious. Schubert has been dead some 175 years—he was born in 1797—and is considered by many the greatest composer that ever lived especially of church music. His Mass in C; Salve Regina; Stabat Mater; Tantum Ergo; Magnificat were praised unreservedly by such masters as Liszt, Schumann, Mendelssohn and other masters.

Vaudeville will follow Thursday afternoon running thru until Sunday night.

"Who's Who," a comedy farce by the Fred Hurley Big Town Revue will hold the stage at the New Orpheum beginning Sunday matinee. This is said to be a delightful music-girl show and will compare very favorably with the other productions seen at the Market playhouse during the present season. There will be the usual change of program on Thursday and the various regular features during the week.

MORE GOOD NEWS

"Blossom Time" Comes Back To Faurot Wednesday

THE mention of a return engagement of Messrs. Schubert's "Blossom Time," will be welcome news to every single theatre-goer who has a liking for the classics. The highest achievements of the old music masters will live thru the ages. To Franz Schubert is ascribed not alone compositions supreme in theme and melody, but the embodiment of simplicity. And with all his wonderful music, he was undoubtedly the most prolific of all composers, having written in excess of six hundred pieces. But from his first effort his Mass in F is the very last his music is rich, vivid, spontaneous and rich in imagination. It is no wonder that "Blossom Time," with the touch of his musical genius should be doubly welcome.

The return engagement is for Wednesday evening only.

Aside from the pleasure of hearing this offering for the second time, announcement is made that Joseph Mendelssohn, will play Franz Schubert. This young actor, with the magnificent baritone voice will be with the company, as will as the others of the excellent cast seen here, with the exception of the comedian, who has been taken by Shep Camp, who is one of the best "Kraus" that has ever essayed that role.

comedy, "Who's Who," Fred Hurley's Big Town Revue will open a week's engagement at the matinee and two evening performances at the New Orpheum theatre Sunday.

Including in its cast an array of vocalists seldom assembled into an organization playing at popular prices, the Big Town Revue is heralded as the best singing show that has come to the New Orpheum in years. Yet melody is not the only bid which the organization makes for public favor, for the comedy "Who's Who," the costumery, the stage settings, scenic and electrical effects all are declared to be exceptional, while the chorus is said to be one of the best and prettiest on tour. In fact, it is declared by Bob Shaw, New Orpheum manager, who personally reviewed the production when it played the Fairbanks theatre in Springfield, that the comedy vies with the singing for first honors.

Among the soloists of the Big Town Revue is Walter Marion, who possesses a voice of such power and purity as merit many gratifying advance notices. From low base to high tenor is the range of his voice and on his high notes he is declared to cause his audiences to give spontaneous appreciation in applause, even before he has finished his selections.

Also in the cast of the Big Town Revue are such recognized artists as La Ford and Burke, Helen Manning, Ralph and Gus Smith the Big Town Harmony Quartet, Evelyn La Ford and a half dozen others. Also in the cast are Baby Evelyn called the child wonder, the Four Dancing Demons and Bess Palmer character songster and prima donna.

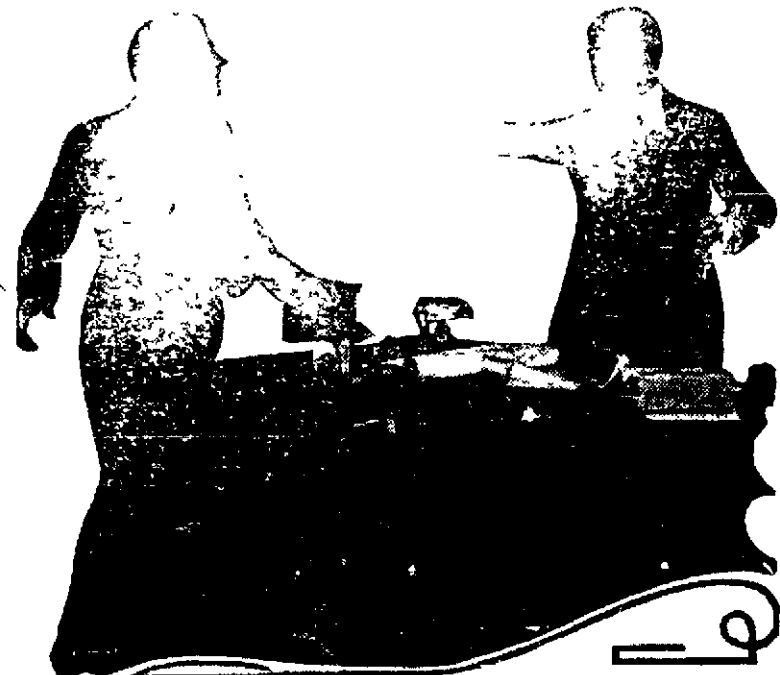

During the engagement of the Big Town Revue a number of extra added offerings will be given on Wednesday night at the 7:30 performance, an extra added novelty will be presented. Thursday matinee there will be a complete change of bill, the last half of the week and Thursday evening at the 7:30 show a double program will be given.

Saturday afternoon, there will be another fun frolic for the children.

VARIETY REMAINS

Vaudeville Acts Conclude Their Stay Sunday Night

The same excellent vaudeville company which has been at the Faurot since Thursday will remain over today, giving performances this afternoon and evening. Among the pleasing acts are the Jack Hughes duo, exceptional musicians; Marion Gibney, clever monologist; Pierce and Roslyn in a whirl of melody. Pierce is a full-blooded Indian and a splendid baritone singer as well as a clever musician. Clinton and Capell in "The Little Wop." Frear, Baggot and Frear close the show with an amusing juggling act interspersed with a whole barrel of comedy. It is a show well worth seeing.

THIS week at the Quilna will be devoted to two new Metro productions "The Man Life Passed By" and "Half-a-Dollar-Bill," both heralded as unusual attractions. New Charlie Murray and Will Rogers' comedies also appear on the line-up for the week.

"The Man Life Passed By" which opens a four-day engagement this afternoon, is a picturization of an original story by Victor Scheitzinger, one of the versatile geniuses of the screen. He has directed many important productions including Jack Coogan's "Long Live the King"; he is the composer of the incidental musical scores for many pictures, and now he emerges as a notable author and director of a notable feature. He must also be given credit for the selection of such an excellent cast—one that would bring distinction to any screen work.

READING PUBLIC WARNED

Statement Issued by Democratic Committee

LIMA NEWS BUREAU
Lima, Ohio, March 19, 1934

The Democratic national committee in a statement issued Saturday, declared that reactionary Republicans were doing all in their power to prevent thorough investigations of various government departments.

The statement also warned the reading public to be on its guard against various forms of propaganda intended to discourage and discredit the investigation of the present Republican administration.

The statement follows: "The reading public should be on guard against the various forms of propaganda intended to discourage and discredit the investigation of the present Republican administration."

In this connection it is well to recall the fact that no Republican reactionary official, no Republican reactionary leader, and no Republican reactionary newspaper has said or done anything to discover or bring to light any fact that would tend to expose these numerous scandals or to utter a single word in condemnation of any of them. On the contrary, the entire machinery of the administration and of the party has been used to obstruct and to belittle the efforts of the investigators and the utterances of the Democratic press and of honest men and women everywhere in their efforts to acquaint the public with the facts and to interpret them so that their significance would be fully understood, until after the worst disclosures had been made, and then only in a few instances.

EFFORTS RESISTED
The Republican national committee of which John T. Adams is chairman, has not only resisted all efforts to uncover these scandals and attempted to belittle them, but has misrepresented and vilified the investigators, including Senator Walsh himself, who commands the admiration and the confidence of the public and the respect of the most partisan college boys in the Senate.

"The Department of Justice with its organization extending throughout the country, including a coast service, has given no cooperation whatsoever. On the contrary, telegrams have been produced to show that employees of this department were busy in the office of Edward B. McLean who cooperated with former Secretary Fall in misleading the investigating committee and the public concerning the source of the Fall "loans"; also it is testified that the Attorney General himself indirectly conveyed information to McLean to aid him in keeping off the witness stand.

"It was to have been expected that Republican partisan Senators of the Willis and Fess type would defend those under investigation.

"While the Republican partisan press has been compelled to print the news of the investigation and the revelations resulting therefrom, some of them have not hesitated to color the news and distort its significance in headlines, in addition to making editorial defense of the accused and their acts, calculated to mislead the public.

"Even the present President of the United States, during the entire time he was vice-president and a courtesy member of the cabinet, and since he has been president, uttered no word until he was compelled to, and then said nothing in condemnation of these scandals or in reprobation of the men concerned there. He has betrayed neither shock nor indignation at the scandalous events which have disgraced his party and harmed the country.

"Let it be said, however, that there have been sincere and earnest members of the Republican party who have not hesitated to condemn and to denounce these scandals and the men implicated, and doubtless their indignation is shared by the better element of the rank and file of the Republican party, which is now hopelessly submerged by the hard-boiled reactionaries who control it and who are wholly responsible for the present shameful and scandalous conditions in so many departments of the national government.

These latter should not be misled by the smoke screen counter attack of the reactionary Republicans.

PAY INCREASE PROPOSED FOR INSPECTOR KIPKER

Five dollar monthly increase in pay will be granted Detective Inspector Willis Kipker by commission's favorable action Monday night on legislation sponsored by City Manager C. A. Bingham.

Abolishment of the position of sergeant of motor equipment in the police department provides the extra pay which Bingham believes should go to Kipker, who is responsible for the detective department but does not receive any more pay than those in a similar position.

CORN CULLING HELD

Quality of seed corn can true to form at a seed-corn culling demonstration at Gomer Friday. Grain had only 20 per cent germinating ability, while corn picked in fall and stored in barns showed only 50 per cent germinating ability. That which had been kept in the house under artificial heat was almost perfect for seed, H. J. Rudge, county agent, said.

GAS PRICE RULE DEMANDED

Attorneys General Meeting Asks
Petroleum Regulation

CHICAGO — (Associated Press)

—The executive committee of the National Conference of Attorneys General at special meeting Saturday formally called upon President Coolidge, congress, the federal trade commission and the executives of states to take immediate action to establish a more stringent regulation of the petroleum industry.

The committee outlined a program of activity and requested congress "to provide immediately a special and sufficient appropriation to the federal trade commission for the conduct and prosecution of this work."

Reciting that "the industry seems to be under such control that prices may be raised over night at every gasoline station in the nation," the statement demanded "that all unfair trade practices in the production, manufacture and distribution of gasoline and other petroleum products be abolished without delay."

CITY ACTS ON GAS CASE LETTER SENT OFFICIAL

Official request to E. R. Curtin, president of Lima Natural Gas Co., to explain cause of complaints by citizens of alleged increase in gas bills for February has been filed by F. H. Hume, city clerk, upon authority of city commission.

Representative of the company is asked to appear in commission Monday night in answer to charges by complainants that artificial gas is forced thru the mains instead of natural gas on which the gas rate is levied.

Dear Friend:

You may not be one of our customers at the present time, but if not, why not? Your neighbors and friends are.

People like you are the backbone of this business, and it would be a real pleasure to serve you.

If there is anything you wish to buy, come to the store and pick it out. If you have not the time, call us up by phone, Main 5318, and we will bring it to you.

A large per cent of the Spring Clothing for Ladies and Men has already arrived. The styles are unique; the colors beautiful, the quality right. Remember you have the privilege of charging clothing and furniture on one bill.

We have received a great deal of new style furniture, recently purchased at the Grand Rapids Furniture Market, embracing everything that goes to make a home, from the kitchen to the living room.

We are local representatives for some of the best known nationally advertised lines, such as Simmons Beds, Springs and Mattresses; Showers Bros. Kitchen Cabinets, Dining Room and Bed Room Furniture; Heywood-Wakefield and Lloyd Loom Go-Carts and Fibre Furniture; Indianapolis Stove Co. Stoves and Ranges; Kroehler Davenport and Living Room Suits; Columbia Refrigerators; Armstrong Linoleum, as well as Congoleum Rugs and Yard Goods.

Don't let the lack of ready cash stop you. Select what you want and just say "Charge It". No down payment is necessary with people like you. Make the terms to suit yourself. This is one store, where your word is as good as your bond.

Even though you do not contemplate buying anything in the near future, drop in just as you would on any old friend.

We are looking forward to seeing you within the next few days.

Yours truly,

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

TRADE reviews for the week reflected the basic industries in strong position. Unfortunately, yearly reports generally, are technically not so rosy. Mercantile reviews trend towards the pessimistic, inclement weather, price uncertainties, the lateness of Easter, and the exposures in Washington, having brought uneasiness to the buying public.

Retail trade in Lima has been only fair, as reflected by five big firms. Good weather, however, should bring city and the district into our stores during the ensuing week.

In general, there are two strong opposing forces in the financial world as of today. One sees Europe and Washington tearing down prosperity; the other sees increased car loadings, United States Steel going on high, the oil industry swinging into profits, instead of storage, and low money rates. Another month will tell which side of the argument wins, and our readers will know by watching quotations.

Lima remains one of the best cities in the United States. The sensational estimate of the new city directory is probably optimistic. Circulation data of this paper will prove, however, that our population is approximately 48,000. Within twenty-five miles of us is almost as much more, giving us trading area of somewhere near 100,000 people.

There is no reason why Lima should not continue to forge ahead. Our large industries will further expand, while each year, even month, sees some new jobber, distributor, or small factory added to our net.

Money remains in fair supply for small commitments at the Building & Loans, and very tight at the commercial banks, where $25,000 requires a conference. Distribution of county monies, a little common sense in new city and county commitments, and an appeal for outside capital, should gradually change this condition.

OFFICIALS DISAGREE

PERENNIAL there is controversy among state officials over the existence — or non-existence, as the case may be — of a so-called surplus of funds in the Buckeye state treasury.

Governor Vic Donahey is again taking issue with other members of the official family on this point. In a communication received from Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, the governor was told that there is a surplus of $22,000,000 in the state strong box at this time. The chief executive terms it pure and simple deception, declaring that the millions referred to simply represent a cash balance against which obligations in excess of $50,000,000 are now outstanding.

Then Auditor of State J. T. Tracy stepped into the story, backed up the attorney general and pointed out that the income of the state has for months been higher than its expenses, and that this certainly creates a surplus. He adds that although there are future claims on this fund, there will also be future income to meet them.

The governor has his own notions about the financial state of affairs of the commonwealth, and to settle the question once and for all, he has invoked authority given him under the constitution and has made demand on the auditor of state for information concerning the amount of the surplus or unencumbered balance in the general revenue fund as of June 30, 1923; the amount on June 30, 1924; surplus of all unencumbered funds March 1, 1924; excess of total appropriations by the 85th general assembly over that of the 84th; amount of revenue stopped by repeal of state highway levy and the educational equalization fund levy, and expiration of the educational and institutional building fund levies.

He also seeks to know if the 85th general assembly appropriated for all purposes in excess of the estimated revenues, as reported, and if so, how much.

While these points are being cleared up, Ohioans know that public bills are being paid, and they also know taxes are high.

"THE GOOD OLD DAYS"

UNSKILLED labor worked for the equivalent of 14 cents a day in Europe in the year 1520. Times were considered very prosperous when this wage rose to 22 cents a day in 1600.

Improvement came very slowly.

About 35 years ago Carroll Wright, chief of the United States Bureau of Statistics, conducted an extensive investigation of the past and found that between 1770 and 1800 the average American blacksmith worked for 71 cents a day, laborers 28 cents and carpenters 61 cents.

Even as late as 1875 the blacksmith got only $2.31 a day, unskilled labor $1.50 and carpenters $2.46 a day.

Many lines of work now pay as much an hour as was paid for a full day's work a half century ago.

The cost of living was not as low as most of us imagine back yonder in "the good old days" when a dollar looked as big as a house.

Take wheat, which is a fairly accurate measure or gauge of general prices. Wheat in 1816 sold for $1.75 a bushel here in America. The price dropped to 99c in 1845, bounded to $2.85 in 1867, slumped to 58 cents in 1894.

Cost of living in the old days fluctuated decidedly, for prices have always traveled in 50-year cycles, reaching about the same high peaks every half century. One generation has low prices. The next generation has high prices, and the old-timers lean on their canes and discuss the low cost of living of long ago. Their parents, still another generation back, knew only high prices.

Wages in the old days were not very elastic. They were adjusted for a period of low prices, and failed to keep pace with the cost of living when it climbed high. So the man born in an old-time period of high prices was decidedly out of luck.

Our generation appears to be the first in history in which wages have become elastic enough to keep in sight of skyrocketing cost of living. Cost of living still tends to climb faster than average incomes, but the situation is much improved compared with former generations.

THE HANDS OFF EDICT

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS of Democratic newspapers of the Fourth congressional district meeting in Lima Friday evening adopted a resolution to be sent to the state Democratic headquarters that they would appreciate, in fact insist on a hands off policy on the part of the state organization with relation to the matter of naming candidates.

The newspaper men, while not in rebellion against the state organization and not having severed diplomatic relations, feel that the people of this district should settle their own problems and not have candidates jammed down their throats. The sentiment appears to be so strong that it is likely the state body will be made to realize that the editors and publishers mean business and that the best thing to do is keep their hands off.

We believe the attitude of the men responsible for the resolution is a commendable one. We have the primary system for choosing candidates and feel that we have the average intelligence in the Old Fourth. We hope Mr. Durbin revises his itinerary and stays out of this district when his organization starts out to hold meetings for the purpose of lining up congressional candidates.

Chinese general has refused to marry President Kun's daughter, indicating they have leap year in China.

THE FAT FAIR SEX

Just a suggestion of a double chin and a reasonable superfluity of tissue in general makes a woman all the more attractive. Even a cold-blooded doctor will not question that. Especially a young woman. Under forty, five per cent excess weight, for height and age, is irresistible as feminine attraction.

A beautiful figure, according to all modern standards, is not precisely normal, but a little more than normal. The perfect thirty-six—is that the number?—is the woman who can just barely—strange how that word popped in here—just barely squeeze into the suit. She fills every inch of it. Five per cent excess weight makes a figure fit the suit so much better. Also it signifies two things in younger women, first, good health; second, long life. Insurance statistics prove the longevity. Every day observation proves the good health. Most of a doctor's patients are skinny and obese women—skinny under forty and obese afterward. Excess weight after thirty-five or forty signifies two things, first, ill health, and second short life. Insurance statistics and observation both prove it. Organic disease excepted, a woman is too stout because of two bad habits, namely, overeating and insufficient exercise.

The habit of overeating is acquired just as the habit of smoking or drinking or drug taking is acquired. The victim indulges socially, or from bad example, or because some fool adviser considers it good for the health. This indulgence in a moderate excess intoxicates—auto-intoxication is the name for it. The intoxication produces an abnormal craving for more indulgence, and presently the habit becomes fixed and hard to break. A fast is as hard for the big eater as abstinence is for the smoker; the system misses the customary intoxication and craves it viciously. It demands strong determination and real will power to resist the craving, and indeed but few gourmands possess sufficient will power to win the fight.

The stout woman who can and will turn half a dozen somersets each night and morning and arrange her menu to provide a suitable maintenance ration minus the superfluous, may regulate her weight to her heart's content and her sweetheart's too, if any. A fat woman is fat by choice. (Copyright, 1924)

THE LOST IDEA
He had the thought he could improve upon

The working method they had followed long.
An easier way in which it might be done.
Yet he was timid, fearing to be wrong.

He'd thought it out. "It ought to work," said he,
"I wonder what they'd say should I suggest it?
I wonder if they'd think enough of me
To pay attention to it or to test it."

Still in his breast he kept his secret hid,
Thinking and fearing there was nothing to it.

Until one day another came who did
The work in just the way he'd thought to do it.

Lost was his chance. Had he but spoken when
The thought was born, then his had been the glory;
But life will seldom wait for timid men,
The bold rise high, and that's another story.

The moral's plain and clearly understood.
There's none, I think, today who will deny it:
A good idea isn't any good
Unless you also have the pluck to try it.

Ancient Civilization Cut off for Many Centuries

QUEER CUSTOMS OBSERVED

Man Never Enters Home After Building it for Bride

CHICAGO — (Associated Press)

An ancient civilization, cut off for centuries from other tribes because of their practice of magic and supposed supernatural powers, has been discovered in Colombia, South America, by J. Alden Mason, assistant curator of the Field Museum of Natural History here.

These people, a tribe of Indians, named Auacoco, numbering 2,000 to 3,000 persons, occupy a narrow strip of land about 30 miles wide and extending back from the Caribbean Sea 150 miles to snow-capped mountains. Short of stature, with dark skin, complexions and black hair, which is in contrast to their tall and powerful neighbors, they lead a quiet peaceful existence untroubled by any modern problems. Their laws and customs are well established and their language is separate and fully developed.

ALMOST UNKNOWN
The conclusion has become such a matter of course that they are unknown even in the nearby coastal towns, while the other Indian tribes will not admit their existence. Only two white men have ever penetrated their land to study their customs and traditions.

They live principally by agriculture, their haphazard farms ranging from the mountains, where they raise sweet potatoes, to the tropic lowlands near the sea, where they grow plantain, sugar-cane and yuca. A queer marriage custom is observed. When a man decides to marry, he builds for his bride a house in the village, but after the marriage ceremony he never again enters the home. He appears at mealtime for his food which is passed out the door, and he then retires to his club to eat in company with his fellow men.

MUTUAL DELOUSING
Much of their spare time is spent in a mutual delousing process, as sort of community interest being established by this practice, and everyone chews a mixture of cocoa leaves and lime, the narcotic effect of this raw cocaine placing them in a state of lethargic bliss.

Their old religion is a form of nature worship, the lakes, trees and roads being their gods. The lodge dances are grotesque mask affairs, accompanied by a slow rhythmic music. Their creed of living is simple in the extreme.

While their tall, lighter skinned neighbors are civilized, this tribe has practiced magic for centuries and this is believed by Mason to be one of the reasons for their isolation. Mason, who recently returned, made the visit to the Arhuaco accompanied by two members of a nearby tribe who had been induced to admit their existence. While the Arhuacos were not hostile they refused to have anything to do with his party.

ENGLISH LIQUOR RUNNER KIDS AMERICAN TOURIST

HAVANA — (Associated Press)
The "Wbadity" a stocky little vessel built along the lines of a tug, lay in Havana harbor taking on a cargo of liquor. "What's that name mean?" shouted an inquisitive American from a passing rowboat. Will you buy a drink if I tell you?" yelled back a grinning member of the crew.

The "Wbadity" which flies the British flag, pulled out subsequently with some 6,000 cases of liquor and her clearance papers indicated she was bound for West End, a port in the British West Indies.

One Dog Didn't Get Away And There's Reasons

DELPHOS — Six homeless dogs roamed in a cage, five away, then there was one dog catcher, mad howls in his cage, thinks losing dogs isn't any fun.

Fred Moran, Allen-son's official canine snatcher had worked in Lima for a week picking up dogs who couldn't show an official excuse for their existence. Business fell off and Moran decided all Lima strays knew him by sight and were hiding on his approach. So he went to Delphos.

Search of outlying streets in Delphos netted a half dozen dogs for Moran's morning's work. He decided to go to Main-st., where daily conventions of outlived dogs are held right under noses of city officials.

Moran descended from his throne on the driving seat to survey his captives. Reaching the rear door of the dog pen on the county's dog catcher recoiled in chagrin. One lone canine strode majestically about the prison, supreme monarch of the cage.

Investigation revealed an opening in the side of the cage. Five of the six prisoners had fled thru that opening. Further investigation revealed the reason for "Dynamite" (named, it is said, after his owner) failing to gain his freedom.

He was too big to get thru the opening.

DELPHOS TEACHERS NOT TO WAIT FOR SALARIES
DELPHOS — The Delphos teachers will receive their salaries only a week late, instead of being forced to wait for weeks, or even months, as it was at first thought would be necessary. The school board has received the county appropriation.

In many schools in the state teachers are being forced to wait indefinitely for their salaries, and some schools are being closed down when they refuse to wait. It was at first thought that something of this kind might result here.

REV. CLARK TO SPEAK
DELPHOS — Rev. Father Clark of Lima, for years a missionary, an ex-chaplain in the U. S. army, and at present president of the Redemptorist Fathers of the Lima district, is scheduled as principal speaker at the Tuesday evening luncheon of the Kiwanis club here. Father Clark is pastor of St. Gerards parish at Lima. He has not yet decided on a subject.

ANNUAL MEETING READY
DELPHOS — According to Miss Mary Lena Seelie, editor-in-chief, and Clayton Wolfe, business manager of the "Delphi," the Delphos high school annual, the final typing on the publication has been completed, and the work is practically in readiness for the printer.

STYLAN S. SWINK NAMED
DELPHOS — Sylvan S. Swink, formerly a Delphos young man but now of Spencerville, business man, has been elected president of the Progressive Association of that village. Other officers elected are: vice-president, George Henne; second vice-president, George P. Becker; third vice-president, G. H. Medaugh, and secretary-treasurer, William W. Rider.

CHIROPODONT TO LECTURE
DELPHOS — Dr. Edward Meyer of Delphos, president of the State Chiropractic association, Lima district, has made arrangements to leave Dr. Frank P. Meyer, of the State University Chiropractic Association of Davenport, Iowa, deliver a series of lectures in the twelve counties comprising the Lima district. Dr. Meyer of this city, was chairman of the district meeting at Lima, at which arrangements for the lecture were made.

HIGHLAND COSTUME GETS HAND IN SOFIA THEATRE

SOFA — (Associated Press)
It has become a tradition in Sofia that the troops which occupied the city after the signing of the armistice on the Salonica front maintained toward the citizens the attitude of guests rather than of victorious troops. Among the stilled forces during the occupation the Scotch Highlanders appeared to be the favorites.

These stirring times in the history of the city were recalled recently in the Free Theatre when Mlle. Maria Turieva, a Russian dancer, appeared in the uniform of a Scotch Highlander. There was a spontaneous demonstration in which Premier Tankoff and other officials took part. The dancer was recalled and finally by gesture begged the audience to release her.

Delphos Youth Sings His Way Thru College

DELPHOS — John H. Wulffhorst is a Delphos youth who is singing his way thru college.

Wulffhorst is a student at St. John's college, Toledo. His reputation as a tenor singer in his home town soon established itself in his chosen college town.

Demands for his singing have been keeping the young tenor busy during all the time he could afford from his studies. Numerous offers to go on the road with professional companies have failed to avert him from his college course.

The Mademoiselle DuBarry Opera Company, which travels out of Indianapolis has given Wulffhorst an opportunity, however, to sing with them without giving up his college work and he has been availing himself of the opportunity presented.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS GET HOLIDAY UNTIL TUESDAY

Classes in Lima parochial schools were dismissed Friday afternoon until Tuesday in observance of St. Patrick's day.

General observance within the city will consist mainly of display of green and gold, colors of the Irish republic, and a holiday from the deep devotions of Lenten season.

George W. Wood, former Lima resident and business man, has returned to this city after an absence of 14 years. He has erected a new building at 335 S. Central-av., and will engage in the heating and plumbing business. He lives at 201 S. Woodlawn-av.

"EASY DIVORCE" IS SCORED

Judge Becker Tells of Evils Caused by Modern Marriages

Declaring that too frequently couples marry with the expectation of an easy divorce, Judge Fred C. Becker Saturday for a second time within a week refused Mrs. Ruth Eshliman, 819 Madison-av a decree from Harry Eshliman, cigar factory foreman.

married in June, and separated in August.

Mrs. Eshliman sought a decree on grounds of neglect, Judge Becker declared Saturday that in the short time she was married it was impossible to determine whether or not her mate had neglected her.

Some acts of cruelty were shown, he held, but the divorce was not asked on those grounds.

Unless more conclusive proof be shown, Judge Becker indicated he will dismiss the case. Hearing of the case was commenced a week ago and continued for more evidence. Saturday witnesses told of hearing Eshliman curse his wife, but they also asserted they had heard her swear too. Mrs. Eshliman asked to be allowed to resume her former name Ruth Shaw. She is a cigar factory worker.

ASKS RESIGNATION OF ROOSEVELT

Congressman Makes Demand in Speech to House

OUTGROWTH OF OIL PROBE

Declares Assistant Secretary of Navy Should Quit

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—The resignation of Theodore Roosevelt as assistant secretary of the navy was demanded in the house Saturday by Representative Stevenson, Democrat, South Carolina.

The demand was made during debate on the naval appropriation bill and was immediately met with a defense of Roosevelt by Representative Longworth, of Ohio, and other Republicans.

"If Mr. Denby ought to have gotten out, Mr. Roosevelt ought to get out, too," Stevenson declared. "Denby is not supposed to have been the recipient of a loan or to have had any connection with the oil people."

"Several attorneys were rejected in connection with the oil cases because of their previous connections with the oil companies. The assistant secretary of the navy was a director of the Sinclair company up to the time he entered the war. He returned and took up a position with a bank controlled by that company."

STATEMENTS DISPUTED
The statements by the South Carolina representative concerning ownership of Sinclair stock were disputed by Representative Longworth after the former had declared that the wife of the assistant secretary owned "Sinclair oil stock at the time the loan was made."

In reply, Stevenson read from the Roosevelt testimony before the oil committee that Mrs. Roosevelt had owned such stock.

Insisting that "the gentleman had made a positive statement that Mrs. Roosevelt had stock when the loan was made," Longworth asked if he was prepared to prove it.

"She did when negotiations were going on and the president signed the order," Stevenson retorted.

"I am prepared to make a statement that Mrs. Roosevelt was not in possession of the stock three months before the loan was made," said Longworth.

Representative French, Republican Idaho, declared that "Roosevelt was not in accord with the leasing program," but "was opposed to it." Mr. Roosevelt not only approved, but said two or three times that he did," asserted Stevenson.

Representative Connally, Democrat, Texas, asked the Idaho representative if he approved that policy, and the latter replied:

"The secretary of the navy had a right to the oil of the navy for the country. Unless something was done to protect the navy oil Standard Oil Co. would have pumped out the oil from adjacent wells. I specifically disapproved the leasing policy."

TESTIMONY READ
Stevenson proceeded to read from the oil committee testimony regarding Secretary Roosevelt aiding in getting his brother, Archie, a job with Sinclair, and added:

"He got $15,000 a year, twice the salary of a congressman, a remarkable salary to be paid a man that showed up as he did in his testimony."

The South Carolina representative then referred to the use of millions to oust alleged squatters from Teapot Dome as "bringing all the military forces of the United States to the aid of Sinclair."

"If the leases were legally made would it not be proper? asked Representative Sproul, Kansas.

"They didn't propose to take the case to the courts," Representative Stevenson replied.

Representative Tinscher, Kansas, then spoke in defense of the Roosevelt name and called upon Longworth to tell the house about stock Mrs. Roosevelt had owned.

Declaring any knowledge of the affairs of members of his family, Longworth declared that he could say "the stock was sold at a loss at least three months before the loan was made."

BATH-TP PUPILS PREPARE FOR STATE MUSIC CONTEST

Bath-tp will observe community school day March 28 at Blue Lick with a music and writing contest.

With the object in view of keeping the pupils in close touch with the world's best music and to learn to know these selections that they may have a better music in their homes and in all kinds of public meetings, the state department of education has prepared three lists of compositions for use in these contests.

Thirty selections—the above twenty plus ten more—for cities and villages.

Forty selections—the above thirty plus ten more—for high schools.

Each of the nine schools of Bath-tp will have five delegates in the preliminary contest to determine which five shall represent the township in the state contest at Columbus on March 29, the following day.

The forenoon session will be taken up in giving this contest and in awarding prizes in the grammar grades in writing. The afternoon program consists of songs and readings by the pupils of all grades.

THIS CALCIUM TONIC BREAKS UP THE COUGH

"A stubborn, persistent, nerve-racking cough weakens the system and the longer it remains unchecked, the more dangerous it is to you. Thousands of persons in all parts of the country who have suffered from similar troubles, and who gave Eckman's Alternative, the calcium tonic, a fair trial, soon found to their satisfaction that they could free themselves from coughs and colds."

What Eckman's Alternative accomplished for such sufferers was largely supplying to the system that necessary calcium which they were not getting in their regular foods. In getting this preparation of more than twenty-five years' standing before the public, calcium is supplied in a way that is readily assimilable. It helps to build up strength, enrich the blood and assist the system itself to get rid of the coughs and colds which weaken the body.

Eckman's Alternative is free of alcohol, narcotics or any habit-forming drugs, and is not unpleasant to the taste.

PUTNAM-CO FARMERS HAVE TWO MEETINGS

OTTAWA — Farmers of Putnam-co have two interesting meetings in store for this week, both of which will be held in the court house in Ottawa.

The County Livestock Shipping Association will meet Tuesday at 1 p. m. at which time J. R. Alvaro of Columbus, representing the State Livestock Shipping Association, will be the speaker.

The speaker will present to farmers necessary for shipping under contracts and of routing the shipment co-operatively.

Farmers will be asked to give of their store of information to assist the government in compiling statistics on farm products, crops and livestock at a meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at the court house.

C. J. West, of Columbus, state statistician, will be the speaker. He will explain to farmers how these reports are collected and urge their co-operation in the matter.

CONTINENTAL BUREAU AND FOOD CLUBS WILL MEET

CONTINENTAL — A meeting of the Continental farm bureau and food clubs has been called for Wednesday night, at which time a program of interest will be given.

The meeting has been announced for the school building, but may be changed to a larger place.

Mrs. Howard Stofus, of Ottawa, secretary to J. W. Henceroth, county farm agent, will speak on "Club Camps for Summer" and Henceroth will have for his subject, "Boys' and Girls' Clubs Make Better Citizens."

OHIO POWER CO. RELIEVED OF SUIT RESPONSIBILITY

CONTINENTAL — The Ohio Power Co. has been relieved of responsibility as a defendant in the petition of W. E. Bauer and W. H. Hill against the Continental Light & Power Co. and the Ohio Power Co.

The Ohio Public Utilities commission granted the motion of the producing company that it be dismissed from the action. The commission based its action on the previous finding by the Supreme court in the case of the village of St. Clairsville against the Public Utilities commission, in which it was held that a producing company selling power to a distributing company where there is no contract in existence, cannot be made party defendant in a suit against the distributing company.

The utilities commission found there is no contract existing between the Ohio Power Co. and the Continental Light & Power Co. or between the producing company and the political subdivision, or with the complainants.

Bauer and Hill made complaint before the state commission concerning an order issued which they asserted required that new motors be installed by power users to change from 25 to 40 cycle current to be furnished by the Ohio Power Co. to the Continental company.

QUIZ ON AS GIRL FIGHTS DEATH

"Poison Booze" Partly Blamed for Waitress' Plight

OTTAWA — With the life of Della Richtline, Ottawa waitress, hanging in the balance, county authorities Saturday started investigation of an alleged "poison booze" party responsible for the girl's condition.

A prominent Ottawa citizen said to have given the party last Thursday night at which a number of friends were invited, is mentioned by county officials as an object for their investigation with a possibility that his arrest may follow on a charge of violation of the prohibition law.

Little hope for recovery of the girl is entertained by Dr. A. F. Shebier, the attending physician, who was summoned when the girl's condition took a decided turn for the worse immediately after the reported "drinking" party.

Complete information, said to have been given county officials by the victim when she faced death comprises the chief weapon in the hands of prosecutors to stamp out alleged parties in the city.

Agitation for construction of an elevator in the courthouse and finishing up the top floor of the building was revived Saturday by C. J. Brotherton, attorney.

He outlines the following suggestions for improvement of the building:

Installation of an elevator in the space now occupied by the stairway.

Removing the tower on the building and building a dome.

Finishing up the top floor, turning the space into offices.

Brotherton says officials in the building are now overworked. By following the suggestions outlined, he says ample office room for 30 years to come will be created.

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—Pressure against the tire, motor and tobacco shares, apparent in the market, was not reflected in the market, although independent strength was shown by some of the medium priced rail issues. Trading was largely of a professional character as it has been for the last month or more.

Speculative fears for the safety of the dividend on Kelly Springfield, which is due about April 1, were reflected in a seven point break in that stock to 56. Heavy liquidation of the common sent that down more than three points to 17 5/8, a new low for the year. Net losses in most of the other rubber issues were held to fractions. Goodrich touching a new low at 21, off 1/2.

Seller of the motor shares was based on unconfirmed reports that one of the leading companies were not finding a ready market for their cars and storing a large portion of their output. Chandler, 1-1/2 points to 56 1/2, a new low for the year. Maxwell A dropped 2 1/2 to 36 and Studebaker and most of the others yielded fractionally.

TABACCO GROUP
Pressure against the tobacco shares, which had dropped more than two points to new 1924 lows, was not reflected in the market, although independent strength was shown by some of the six per cent dividend.

New lows in this group also were recorded by American Sumatra common and preferred, and Cigar common. General Electric advanced fractionally to 22 1/2, a new high since 1924, and then broke nearly 6 points from the top or profit-taking. Con. Products, Dupont and Gulf States Steel also reacted sharply on rumors of declines in commodity prices, resulting in further liquidation of the silk shares. Mallinon and Julius Kayser dropping 2 3/4 and 1 1/4 respectively to the lowest points of the year.

Chesapeake and Ohio was one of active features of the rail group, being 1-1/4 higher at 75 1/8. Good being also was noted in Norfolk and Western and Erie first preferred.

The weekly clearing house statement showed increases of $97,785,000 in loans, discounts and investments, $79,000,000 in cash in own vaults, $7,344,000 in net demand deposits and $5,439,000 in time deposits. Reserve of member banks at the federal reserve bank dropped $1,216,000.

Further improvement in the bond frame, which carried it above 100, featured the foreign exchange market. Most of the other rates advanced about 50 points, on the purchase of dollars in Rio de Janeiro to meet interest payments. Day's total sales 415,200 shares.

GAINS SCORED IN WHEAT PRICES

European Demand for Canadian Shipments Chief Factor

MARKET IS UNSETTLED

Changes in Corn and Oats Quotations Slight

CHICAGO—(Associated Press)—Wheat moved upward in price Saturday despite weakness of corn. European demand for Canadian shipments had a strengthening effect on the wheat market here, and so did closing of spreads between Chicago and Winnipeg. Chicago wheat prices finished unsettled 3-5 to 3-4 and 7-8 cent higher, May 105 1/8 to 106 1/4, July 107 1/8 to 108 1/4 with corn 1-3 to 1-5 cent down, Oats at 1-5 cent to 1-5 cent and provisions unchanged to 7c up 3-4.

Buyers had the advantage in the wheat pit from the beginning. Houses with eastern connections were removing hedges against sales of Canadian wheat to Europe and liquidating sales of the part of the hold-ups appeared to be at an end. Higher quotations at Liverpool helped further to lift values. Meanwhile, unfavorable crop reports from the territory east of the Mississippi were an additional bullish factor.

Corn to oats was depressed by an overnight accumulation of selling orders in the corn trade. On the price setbacks which resulted, however, it was evident that standing orders to sell out and stop losses at certain limits had been about exhausted. Under such circumstances commission houses and shorts turned buyers, and the market developed a tendency to recover.

Higher prices on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

American Motor Cars Compete With New European Models

Production of 27,411 cars and trucks was reported to the directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting held in New York last week. The report shows that for the first time in 1924, the total output of the industry was in excess of production during the corresponding month last year.

Causes of the big increase have been ascribed to the mild weather which has prevailed in most parts of the country during this winter.

The fact that highways have been open during the cold months has not only been helpful to immediate business, but also is expected to aid spring trade. It is thought the added mileage of winter travel will have resulted in a number of cars from use which might otherwise have served another season. Moreover, the general motoring interest and usefulness is emphasized when winter traveling is made exceptionally easy by favorable weather conditions.

A steady improvement in truck business is indicated by trade reports from various sections of the country. Sales of light commercial vehicles in New England, Pennsylvania and Ohio were much heavier during February than during the corresponding period last year.

Market for heavy trucks is reported to be excellent in Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Most sections report motor car demand in general as being remarkably good for this year of year, with soft spots in the middle west and corn belt.

Truck production at the Garford for February amounted to 184, according to figures given out by officials of the company. The schedule for the month of March calls for 120 trucks.

Twenty leading American automobiles at the recent Olympia Show in London, England, competed for interest with 79 British, 29 French, 12 Italian, three Belgian, one Dutch and one Swiss—a total of 145 entries. Yet analysis of the designs showed many divergencies from accepted automobile practice in this country, and possibly foreshadowed some of the developments to be expected later in the United States, where the cost of tooling up for our mammoth productions includes the possibility of too sudden variations in automobile construction.

Many significant things have been discovered by American automobile authorities in this review of the European automobile design. Most of the recent trend in European practice is

OAKLAND FINISH TO BE TESTED

The special Duco finish of the new 1924 Oakland cars will be subjected to tests at the Bryan Motor Sales Co. this week to show the superior quality of the finish. Throughout the nation during the week, in Oakland sales rooms everywhere, the finish will be subjected to probably the most daring tests ever given a body finish—tests that owners of motor cars with any ordinary finish would term "foolhardy".

Among the tests to be given will be the muriatic acid test. Muriatic acid, which will even eat thru a strip of metal, will be dropped on the Oakland bodies and rubbed over them. After being wiped it will not so much as discolor the finish. Hot tar will be rubbed on the cars, allowed to dry, and will be knocked off without the slightest injury.

Other tests to be given include sulphuric acid test, test with full chemicals of a fire extinguisher, strong ammonia, lime cement matches, boiling water, mud

FORD CAR ALL CAMPING TRUCK

CELINA—Ralph T. Martz city has found another use for Ford car.

While out on a camping trip, Martz wanted to shave but had no razor. He remedied this fault by using the side of his Ford car as a mirror. "Anyone with a highly polished face on his car can make as good a job as I," Martz says.

Martz uses the running board, the side of the car for a shelf, gets hot water from the radiator and uses the fan belt as a rope. Thus he has a first-class barbershop while on the road.

BUICK GETS OVER ALL ROADS

After driving 5,730 miles over all kinds of roads, W. A. Felsing, department of chemistry, University of Texas, Austin, Texas, is decidedly enthusiastic about his Buick Four. He made a trip from Boston, Mass., to Austin by way of Milwaukee, covering 3,028 miles.

"I had fine roads east of the Mississippi, but through Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma I struck dirt roads. To make matters worse it rained when I entered Iowa. Accordingly I had muddy roads thruout Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas, and exceedingly rough roads in Oklahoma. In fact I struck no good roads until I crossed the Red River into Texas, where roads were very good to excellent," Felsing says. "I averaged 22.84 miles to the gallon of gasoline."

Felsing has driven his car continuously since it was purchased in August and has had no trouble of any kind.

CERTIFIED ACCESSORIES PROVIDED BY OLDSMOBILE

Certified accessories made especially to fit the new Oldsmobile Six are being supplied all authorized Oldsmobile dealers by the Olds Motor Works. The Barth Motor Sales Co., 123 W. Spring-st., local dealers of the Oldsmobile, soon will be supplied with the accessories.

The accessories include bumpers, bar-handled radiator caps, spot lights, windshield cleaners, rear view mirrors, step plates, trunks, trunk plates, fenders and rails, windshield wings and sport tire carrier assemblies. They are given the same rigid laboratory tests as are all materials used in the manufacture of the cars themselves.

OVERLAND PRICES ARE SLASHED

Announcement from the Willys-Overland headquarters in Toledo that prices on two of its most popular closed types have been slashed as a result of a factory output in excess of all original anticipations, is a good indication of the increased demand for Willys-Knight and Overland closed cars during the current winter.

The price reduction affects the Overland Champion model, which has been reduced from $895 to $825, a cut of $70, and the Willys-Knight standard sedan from $1795 to $1695, a $100 reduction.

Reason for the price-cut has been given by John N. Willys, president of the company, as follows: "January and February production has exceeded all expectations. We manufactured 2,043 cars in January, more than double the output of a year ago. In February we shipped 22,136 cars. Because of the increased output the production costs per car has been lessened."

The Lima Overland Co., 407-2 W. Market-st., is the Lima representative of the company.

FLINT SIX MAKES FIRST BOW

The newest light six to make its bow in the less-than-a-thousand-dollar class is the "Flint Forty" shown for the first time at the Boston Automobile Show last week. W. C. Durant has added the "Flint Forty" to the regular "Flint Six" line, and the new six will have balloon tires, disc wheels and perfect four-wheel brakes as standard equipment. The price of the touring model is $980 f.o.b. Flint factory.

The "Flint Forty" faithfully duplicates the trim lines of the larger Flint models which are a reproduction of the locomotive in appearance, especially in the radiator and cowl lines. The new car proved to be one of the sensational attractions at the show and it occupied a prominent place in the exhibit of the Boston-Flint Co., Boston distributors.

Addition of balloon tires and four-wheel brakes as standard equipment gives this new Flint the distinction of being the first light six in the field to carry this equipment on every job.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURERS HINDERED BY HIGH TAXES

COPENHAGEN—The new law establishing a 15 to 30 percent tax on automobiles has been severely criticized in motor circles, particularly by the heads of American car making companies with branches in Denmark. They claim that their companies have recently acquired large plants in Denmark with the intention of employing hundreds of Danes and using Copenhagen as a collecting and distributing center for Scandinavia, Russia and other European countries.

Some prominent Danes have expressed the opinion that Americans, whose government apparently taxes necessities, have no moral right to up-braid Denmark for placing a temporary tax on luxuries.

WISCONSIN LAND OPENED TO ALL AUTO-TRAVELERS

MADISON, Wis.—Under a new policy adopted by the Wisconsin state land board, approximately 275,000 acres of state lands will be thrown open to tourists next summer for camps, purposes, without charge.

Any tourist or camper, whether from Wisconsin or outside, will be permitted to use a plot of ground in the state land territory, most of which is in the northern part of the state. The plots generally will be 60 by 120 feet. No permanent buildings can be erected on the land, campers being permitted to use only tents or portable structures. Permits for camp sites are to be obtained thru the land office. The permit plan, according to officials, will result in a small loss in fees to the state.

An electrically-propelled Indian motorcycle is on display at the Indian shop on W. High-st. The motorcycle is of standard stock, but has an electric motor attached to it. The motor and a number of other parts are nickel-plated.

The machine was on display at the national motorcycle show at Chicago.

STUDEBAKER SIX MAKES RECORD

Ward has been received here by E. H. Hawisher, manager of the Hawisher Motor Car Co., 406 W. Market-st. of a new record established by a Studebaker Special-Six touring car in a thrilling race against time from Fremantle to Sydney, Australia. The car was driven by John Burton, a veteran Australian motorist.

It went thru the grueling grind of 2,880 miles in five days, 21 hours and 45 minutes. This is 16 hours and 12 minutes faster than the previous record of 6 days, 18 hours and 57 minutes.

In addition, Burton drove the Studebaker thru to a new record in his race, by clipping off considerable time between Fremantle, Adelaide and Melbourne. The Special-Six negotiated the entire 2,880 miles under extremely severe conditions and came thru in perfect running order.

This new Australian record of Studebaker's comes on the heels of new marks recently established by stock model Studebaker cars in the Syrian desert and in the Union of South Africa.

NASH SCORES IN FOUR-SEDAN

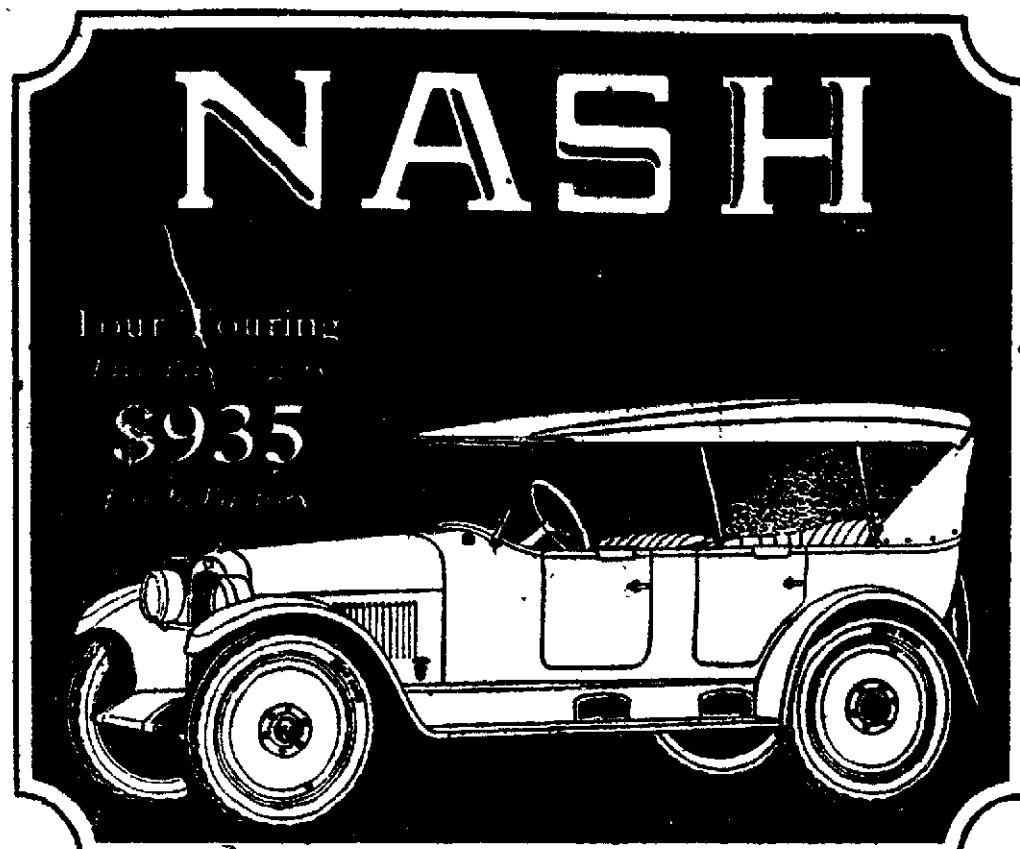

Critics frankly admit, it is said, that Nash has scored a triumph in value-giving with the remarkable Nash Four-Sedan.

In many points it sets new standards for cars of its kind and price. The body is long and low—painted a rich Nash blue. The interior trim lives up to the highest Nash traditions of enclosed car luxury. Upholstery is in mohair velvet—the finest grade obtainable. Silvered fittings harmonize with quiet good taste of the interior. The famous Nash-perfected valve-in-head motor, now advanced to the finest degree of operating efficiency, is another feature of the new model. The Lima Nash Co., 219 W. High-st., is the Lima agency for the car.

Your Opportunity to Get Ahead!

Are You This Man?

SOME MAN is now face to face with the turning point of his career. He may or may not be selling automobiles now; he may be in some other business; he may be working for somebody else, but eager to start in business for himself.

Whoever the chosen man may be, he is going to be mighty glad he saw and acted upon this advertisement. He is going to make money. He is going to turn a small capital into SUCCESS in capital letters.

The very newest Willys-Overland dealers have scored noted successes from the word "go." Because the cars are the greatest cars in the entire Willys-Overland history. Because all past selling records are being smashed right and left, all over the country. Because the public knows greater value when it sees it!

More than 90 per cent of all automobiles sold list under $2000. The Willys-Overland line begins with the famous Overland Chassis at $395 and graduates up to the luxurious 7-passenger Willys-Knight Sedan at $1995—covering this greatest market from end to end—giving the dealer cars that appeal to the eye, the heart and pocketbook of the very keenest buyers.

If you feel that you are the right man we are interested in you, and you are interested in us.

We want to meet you and give you all the details, and show you the history-making success other Willys-Overland dealers are making. We have facts and figures to show you that will open your eyes.

DEALERS SELL

GOOD USED CARS

The average man doesn't pretend to be an expert on motor cars. His business is something else. That doesn't mean that he can't safely buy a used car. It does mean that he should buy of someone whose knowledge and honesty he can trust. Our customers have found us worthy of their confidence.

Good Values for Today--

Dodge Brothers Roadster. 1922. High hood. Excellent condition. Practically new tires.

Dodge Brothers Touring. 1917. Serviceable condition. Bargain price.

Dodge Brothers Sedan. 1917. Far above the average for cars of this age. Price reasonable.

Nash Touring. 1922. 6 cylinder. A bargain purchase.

Have 11 acres of land located about 15 miles from Lima, just off a main State Highway, beautiful grove and scenery; this has an elegant house and is all equipped with electric lights, gas, hot and cold water and bath.
Dining room large enough to seat one hundred people, fine dance floor, kitchen equipped with stoves, dishes, silverware and cooking utensils. It has a large reception hall, living room with beam ceiling and mammoth fire place, eleven sleeping rooms and large front porch. This is a gold mine for some one wishing to go into the poultry business and cater to fancy chicken dinners for tourists, parties and dances; can be bought with the entire equipment and eleven acres for less than the cost of the house. Will trade for good Lima property.

10 Acres about six miles from Lima, has good house, barn and out buildings, nice assortment of fruit, on good road and close to an interurban stop. Price $5000, will trade for modern home.

LIKES CHEVROLET FOR MOUNTAINS

Vacationist Tells of His Car's Ability in Climbing

A vacationist from Wichita, Kan., while making a trip up Lookout Mountain, Colorado, in a friend's Chevrolet touring car, was "sold" on the ability of the machine to climb the mountains. He is Francis W. Elder, of Wichita.

"After our trip to Lookout Mountain, I decided to purchase a car, so I bought a Chevrolet touring car. I drove this car all over Colorado, New Mexico, and Texas, then to Wichita. I drove it over 9,000 miles. The only expense was about $25 for tire repairs."

The car in which Elder went to Lookout Mountain was a regular stock touring car without any special attachments for climbing mountain roads.

EXPLORERS USING DODGE CARS

Lima people who heard Ray Chapman Andrews lecture on the Third Asiatic Expedition at Elks' auditorium last Thursday may be interested to know that the automobiles Andrews used as the means of locomotion during the expedition were Dodge Brothers cars.

Before Andrews used motor cars in his hunt for prehistoric relics, fur traders in the district in which he roamed relied on camels in order to penetrate the interior rich in fur animals. When they saw Andrews in his machines, they decided to buy them and import more. That is just what they did.

Thus the fur trade in Asia has been given a definite impetus by the Andrews expedition's revelations. Information regarding the geological discoveries, such as mineral deposits, was turned over to the Mongolian government. How soon active development of these resources will begin largely on the condition of state affairs and the interest of outside capital.

There are no roads in the interior of Asia, but that seemed to make little difference to Andrews and his Dodies. Andrews is quoted as having said that all Mongolia is accessible by motor car, and that a new field for commercial exploration and development has been opened.

AUTO DEVELOPMENTS OF 1923

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

The outstanding automotive improvements of the last year may be classified as follows:

1. Four-wheel brakes.
2. Balloon tires.
3. Traffic transmission.
4. Multiple-disc, self-adjusting clutch.
5. Perfected straight-eight.

Of these, only one may be considered an innovation—balloon tires. All the others have been tried out or used in less improved form in former years.

Balloon tires were thought of long before 1923, but they did not come into popular use until last fall. Taxicabs about Akron, O., had been running on these soft-cushion, low-inflated tires for thousands of miles, just to test them. Now they are being adopted quickly on all sorts of automobiles.

The popularity of these tires is still to manifest itself, for they have not yet been offered to the public without reserve. The tire engineers are still striving to gain the utmost perfection on them before being adapted to general use.

Just as tire manufacturers have been reluctant to release their new product until fully improved, so have the advocates of four-wheel brakes been installing their inventions on more and more automobiles, despite persistent controversy and doubt. There hasn't been as much discussion against the balloon tire as against the four-wheel brake system, yet it is the latter that has taken the chance of losing public approval and disapproval.

Apparently the public has taken in the improvement with outspread arms. Even some of the automotive engineers and manufacturers who had been outspoken against the wisdom of such an improvement have succumbed to their lure.

Packard has succeeded in perfecting its straight-eight engine to a nicety. Perfect balance and freedom from vibration has been secured thru a singular design of the crankshaft. The moving parts are in such perfect balance, it is said, that the engine needs bolting only to sustain its weight, while others have to be held rigidly to the frame to absorb some of the excessive vibration.

The multiple-disc, self-adjusting clutch, on the new Cole, is another solution to the problem of making gear-shifting easy and silent.

Tendency to chatter, grab or distort is practically obliterated, say Cole engineers. The interwoven corded fabric and steel plate makes for longer wear. The six springs back of the eleven plates keep these snugly together, so that the clutch works evenly all around.

The traffic transmission, installed in the new Chandler, is nothing new.

It was tried out by the pioneer manufacturers. Now, perfected and improved, it comes forth as a relief for the nervous motorist who winces at rasping gears.

Shifting is accomplished by an internal form of transmission, but there are no gears to mesh. All gears are already intermeshed. So that there are no grinding gears, and no danger of stripping them—making driving safe for the most uncomplished motorist.

Among other important developments in automotive manufacture during 1923, may be included:

1. The business type of sedan or coupe, which motorists may use for business or pleasure. The seats and their backs are removable, so that merchandise can be packed into the car, as into a truck. Or they may be placed together, to make a bed for the occupant.
2. Mechanical gear-shifting—although this has been in long use of many cars—has come in for added improvement. It is another means of making driving easy for the motorist.
3. Air cleaner, designed for the 1924 Richman. Just and dirt from the air entering the carburetor, and head that deflects the dust and allows only clean air to pass into the cylinders and lamp glass and score the claimed as benefits.

GOOD YEAR

NOW!

BALLOON TIRES

THAT FIT PRESENT RIMS

Goodyear is making balloon tires in the smaller diameter 20- and 21-inch rim sizes, of course.

But so far as the average motorist today is concerned, Goodyear is doing something vastly more important.

It is building Balloon Tires that can be fitted to a majority of the cars now in use without the expense of special wheels and rims.

It is thus offering the full advantages of balloon tires in buoyance, cushioning and comfort at the very minimum of cost.

To the immense army of motorists now interested in the balloon tire and its benefits, this news is doubly welcome.

It means that behind the balloon tire principle is put the important endorsement of full Goodyear approval and authority.

It means that into Balloon Tires design and construction are built the invaluable lessons of the years of Goodyear tests and experience.

It means that a tested and proved low-pressure flexible sidewall balloon tire of representative Goodyear quality, is now available at moderate cost.

You will want to know more about this tire, and how in most cases will satisfactorily replace ordinary tires on present wheels and rims.

For complete information, write or call for an authoritative booklet on the subject and one will be sent or given you free.

Today as in years past, on balloon tires as on all other types, the name Goodyear stands for supreme quality and dependability.

10 daring tests of Oakland's Duco Body-finish

See These Tests

Muriatic Acid—It does not harm Oakland's new finish.

Sulphuric Acid—A finish that stands this test will stand the hardest usage.

Fire—Even a flame cannot harm Oakland's finish.

Ammonia—The strongest ammonia is used in this test.

Fire Extinguisher—It kills fires but not the brightness of Oakland's finish.

Lime Cement—This test proves that it's hard to harm Duco finish.

Hot Tar—See how easy it is to clean road tar from Duco.

Boiling Water—It is fine to know that the finish will stand this test.

Mud—See a muddy car cleaned with a dry cloth without harm to its finish.

Dust—With Duco you can safely dust your car as often as you please.

Every day and evening, beginning March 17th and ending March 22, we will put on a most unusual demonstration at our show room. The beautiful new Duco body finish of the True Blue Oakland will be tested and its remarkable qualities proved right before your eyes.

After seeing these tests, listed at the left, you will realize what a wonderful advance Oakland has made in bringing out this new finish.

BUICK DOES NOT ASK MOTORISTS TO WAIT FOR IMPROVEMENTS

LEADERS NEVER DO

"Wait for me" is the cry of the laggard, always heard from the rear of civilization's procession. But the world does not wait for the "I can't" division. It follows the leaders, the doers.

This again is strikingly shown by the unprecedented volume of purchase orders that have greeted the new 1924 Four-Wheel Brake Buick models.

It is the emphatic recognition that the Buick engineers, with 97 improvements in the 1924 Buicks, have outstripped even their best previous efforts in keeping faith to their pledge.

YANKS ALL RICH, BRAZIL THINKS

American and Millionaire Are Synonymous Down There

TWO PRICE SCALES USED

One is for People from U. S. and Other for Natives

RIO DE JANEIRO—(Associated Press)—“American Millionaire” is a word, or should be hyphenated at the very least, in the opinion of most Brazilians. It is doubtful if any citizen of this country could be brought to believe that there exists a “poor American,” or even one in a “moderate circumstance.”

Perhaps the movie pictures are responsible for some of this golden glamour. The film of the traveling American, however, must assume the rest of the blame. His generosity and his tips are bigger and he is famous. His tip is bigger and he is famous. His tip is bigger and he is famous.

But while the American may enjoy a sense of generosity, he likes to believe that his spending is a matter of free will. He has no patience with being over-charged just because he is American.

For this reason, visiting and resident Americans are frowning over the adoption of a double scale of prices by the hotels, restaurants, and certain other business houses of this city, one set of prices being for American and the other for Brazilians. The plan to make Americans pay more than others was described in a story published recently in the Journal do Commercio. The abnormal exchange situation was advanced as the reason. The dollar is now worth three times as many milreis as it was a few years ago. While the general increase in the cost of living has cut the purchasing power of the milreis in half, the dollar has steadily climbed in value, and the Brazilians feel that the Americans are getting all the best of it.

KILLING TWO BIRDS

By charging special prices to Americans, the article says, the Rio de Janeiro hotel and restaurant men are killing two birds with one stone: they are increasing their receipts, and at the same time are able to keep prices down for their Brazilian customers.

There is a tendency to include other foreigners in the special price scheme on the suspicion that their income is established on the gold basis, but Americans are the main objective.

The visiting American, if he does not like the special price arrangement, can cut his visit short, but the resident who is obliged to remain for business reasons is out of luck—especially if it happens that his salary is paid in Brazilian money.

LIMA TO SEND DELEGATE TO AUTO PEACE MEETING

Lima will send one delegate to the joint meeting called in Chicago April 8, to perfect the amalgamation of the American Automobile association and the National Motorists association into one unified organization.

Call for the meeting was received by James E. Heffner, of the Lima Automobile club Saturday from Judge Walter E. Meals, of the National Motorists association.

Tentative plans for the proposed merger were broadcasted recently. The new organization is to be known as the New American Automobile association.

The Lima delegate has not been selected, Heffner announced.

30 LIMA AUTO DEALERS ATTEND KENTON MEETING

Dealer problems were discussed at a meeting of more than 200 automobile merchants of 10 counties, held in the Elks' club in Kenton Friday night, by the Hardin-co Automobile Merchants association. More than 30 Lima dealers were present.

James E. Morton, secretary of the Lima Board of Commerce, delivered the principal talk of the evening, stressing the value of truthful advertising in the automobile business.

John Kiser, president of the Hardin-co association presided as toastmaster.

FREE SITE SEEN FOR HOSPITAL

Commissioner Rankin Resigns From Committee

Possibility that approximately four acres of land in Lima Driving park may be donated to the city as a hospital site for the proposed $600,000 structure was expressed Saturday with announcement that the east side site committee would visit the grounds Monday afternoon and agree on a site.

Negotiations with owners of the tract of land sub-divided for building lots have led to belief by the site committee that a plot of four acres may be donated to increase the value of the other property in event the location is selected for the structure.

Commissioner J. J. Rankin who has been actively engaged in boosting the east side for the hospital has resigned from the committee as he believed he should not serve on that committee when he will be called on as a member of the city commission to approve the site ground.

Petitions circulated by east side boosters contain signatures of nearly 5,000 property owners, they say, and these petitions are to be filed with commission previous to the site award meeting.

Music War Has Primitive Finale

VIENNA—Which is mightier—the sweet, dulcet tone of the violin or the noisy clamor of the jazz band? The question was put to a severe test in the Graben restaurant here. The discord arose out of jealousy between two orchestras whose instructions were to play alternately. One was a jazz band, the other a group of three violinists. Each was popular and each tried to excel the other and take encores. The jazz band called upon its heavy artillery and the violinists were completely out-thundered.

The fiddlers dashed across the arena waving their violins and bows and knocked all the harmony out of the jazz band. But, undaunted, up rose the banjo and the saxophone and smote the infuriated foe. The drummer hung his instrument around the neck of the rival leader. Instruments broken, the combatants turned to the tables and picked up bottles and plates and glasses. Tables were overturned and mirrors went crashing. The artists got back to first principles and fought body to body. Shortly the police arrived.

DETECTIVE AGENCY TOLD TO OBTAIN CITY PERMIT

Orders to the National Detective agency, American Bank-bldg., to procure a city operating license, were issued Saturday from City Manager C. A. Blugham's office. Under the city license code the agency is allowed three operatives on a license from Jan. 1 at an annual cost of $25.

No further warnings are to be issued to soft drink cafe proprietors and others who have failed to take out licenses, according to Manager Blugham who has ordered a checkup by police. Arrests are expected to follow in case of violations.

You Tell'em, Charlie-

Yesterday I called on Charlie Black of the Lima Chevrolet Sales & Service, and said: “Good morning, Mr. Black, what's the news?” and he came right back at me with this: “Our organization challenges the Detroit Chevrolet bunch to a sales contest, which ends March 31st, at midnight, and we've got to get all our salesmen on their toes and sell so many more Chevrolet cars that we will settle for all time the question as to which is the 10th Chevrolet city.”

“Well,” said I, who draws my pay every Saturday for selling News advertising, “you can tell all the people about it by running an ad in the News every day until the end of the contest.” “What will I say in the ads?” replied Charlie Black. “Just tell 'em that you think that the Chevrolet is a pretty good car—that you'd like to have people come in and take a ride in the Chevrolet Sedan—that you're willing to leave it to them to decide just how good it is, after they drive it. Tell 'em the Chevrolet goes about as far as any on a gallon of gas—and will take any reasonable hill on high. Tell prospects that you don't tell 'em how good you think the Chevrolet is—but let them tell you how good they think it is.” “Say,” says Charlie, “you know so much about this, suppose you write this ad?” “All right,” says I, “I will”—and I have.

LECTURE COURSE IS UNDER WAY

South High Announces Program As Tentatively Chosen

NEW MOVE BOOSTS DRAMA

General Criticism To Follow Presentation Of Plays

A lecture course for South High school has practically been decided on for the season of 1934-35. They have secured an option on the seven following attractions until April 1: Plotow's L'Ombré, a comic opera; B. B. Ambrose, electrical wizard; Charles Crawford Gorst, the bird man; Jess. Tugh, humorist; Alton Packard, cartoonist; Tom Skychill, soldier-poet and lecturer; and Laurant, magician.

The above course is held as one of the best obtainable and the option will be closed providing a sufficient number of tickets is subscribed for by April 1. Mr. Roudsbush reports that the response to the subscription cards is most favorable thus far.

Principal Roudsbush will talk to members of the Scenic club Tuesday on his experiences in the world war and on the manufacture of different gases used in warfare. The talk will be an interesting one from practical experience as Mr. Roudsbush spent several months in France.

The Tiranese society is looking forward to the betterment of South dramas. Samuel Griffin, who is in charge of this week's program has selected several plays for dramatization. Following the presentations of the plays every detail in characterization will be criticized. In this way they will endeavor to make the underclassmen better fitted for future dramatics at South.

St. Patrick will be presented at the meeting of the Sophomore Literary society Monday. The club is featuring a St. Patrick's program which will consist of a short playlet entitled "St. Patrick," several elocution numbers and a biography of St. Patrick. Maurine White and La Danna Fisher are in charge.

The Girls' Glee club for the coming week is having a complete musical program. A vocal solo will be given by Helen Jones; a piano solo by Louis Muntis; Betty Stewart will relate the recent musical achievement of some great artist and a solo by Anna Mary Dupere will close the program. Bernadine Wade is chairman of the program committee.

Week after next the Boys' Hi-Y club will hold a stag party and track meet combined at the Y. M. C. A. Sophomore boys are invited so that they may be inspired to join the club next year when the ranks of membership will require replenishing by the out-going senior members. Difficult athletic events will be held and P. R. Marshall will give a short talk to the boys.

Star Clusters are being deeply studied and discussed by the Astronomy club. Special reports are given each week by the members and many interesting discussions are held.

A short play, written by Misses Marie Becholdt and Helen Miller, members of the Girls' Welfare, will be presented at the next welfare meeting. The cast for the play "The Spirit of Giving," will include Neva Geasure, Alma Miller, Mary Miller, Olive Hawkins, Louise Smith, Francis Deets and Josephine Becholdt. Musical numbers will be presented by Mary Williams, pianist, Betty Lengel, violinist, and Cora Barnhart, vocalist.

ical numbers will be presented by Mary Williams, pianist, Betty Lengel, violinist, and Cora Barnhart, vocalist.

"Daddy Long Legs" by Jean Webster has been selected as the annual play to be given by the Junior class. Tryouts will be held Monday and Tuesday and work on the play will begin immediately. The play is dated April 11 and will be supervised by Miss Bowler and Miss Meredith.

The Ye Merrie Players will hold tryouts next week for Juniors who wish admittance to the club.

Members of nature study will "set out" their hot beds which they recently constructed and will begin making their insect nets. They are planning to get a very extensive collection of insects in the spring.

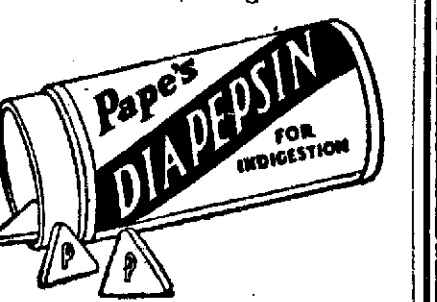

"Rip Van Winkle" will be dramatized by the Masquers next Tuesday. Those taking part are: Rip Van Winkle, Edwin Tullis; Dame Rip Van Winkle, Ethel Speer; Children, Freda Kurthausen, Alberta Stumbaugh, Martha Ault, Bob Jewell, Howard Byerly; Captain of the Dwarfs, William Foster; Judith Gardiner, Imogene Rex.

The annual lettermen's football and basketball banquet was given by the faculty of South at the Normal hotel Saturday evening, March 15. Mr. Graham was toastmaster. Interesting talks were given by lettermen and members of the faculty. A five-course dinner was served. The tables were tastefully decorated in blue and gold. Included on the program were: "Team, Team, Team," by Robert Barrington; "Then and Now," Miss McDowell; "Day of Dedication," Calvin Early; "The Spirit of South," Lewis Smith; "The Knochle Club," Mr. Roudsbush; "The Reward," Coach Burdette.

South's new auditorium will probably be completed some time in June. The structure is practically under cover and work will now progress more rapidly. The auditorium will accommodate 1500 people.

LIMA CONTINUING BUILDING BOOM

February's Total Is $205,900; In State, $21,544,800

February building construction launched in Lima totaled $205,900 as compared with $21,544,800 for the state. The combined total for the first two and one-half months registered $633,100, with January's $216,000 being the banner month and March having a good start with $111,200 for 15 days.

Extensive building planned in Lima registers far above the total of permits so far issued by the city. Hundreds of homes are included in the program to be put under way as soon as weather conditions are more favorable.

February construction in Ohio of $21,544,800 was an increase of 58 per cent over the January figure and a decrease of 25 per cent from February of 1933, according to the monthly statement of the F. W. Dodge corporation.

The combined state total of $35,154,200 for the first two months of this year registers a 21 per cent decrease over the corresponding period for 1933.

Last month's construction record throughout the state included: $9,206,200, or 43 per cent for residential buildings; $3,646,100 or 14 per cent for commercial buildings; $2,595,200 or 12 per cent for public works and utilities; $2,475,000 or 12 per cent for educational buildings; $2,253,000 or 10 per cent for industrial buildings.

REALTOR'S TICKETS FOR LADIES' NIGHT ALL SOLD

All of the 250 tickets printed for the Lima Realtors association "ladies' night" banquet Friday evening at 6:30 at the Barr hotel have been sold. W. R. Mummaugh, manager of the association announced Saturday.

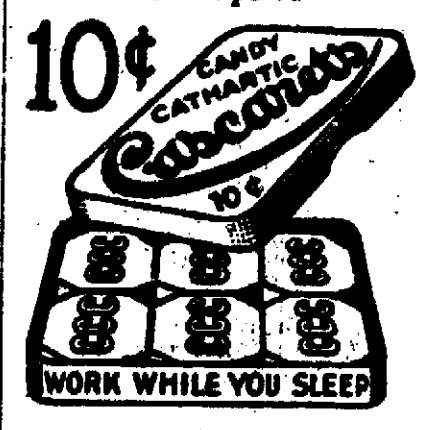

Thurman (Dusty) Miller of Wilmington, editor of the Wilmington News-Journal and widely known speaker, will talk on "Something Different." Miller's appearance on the program will have much to do with the general success of the affair.

Mrs. Charles Kraft, whistling artist will entertain and Don Johns will sing a number of solos.

Carey Fibre Coating
"The Roof Rejuvenator"

There's that leak!
HUNTING roof-leaks in bad weather isn't much fun, and make-shift patching isn't enough. Usually for every leak that breaks through, a half-dozen more are developing.
An application of Carey Fibre Coating over the entire roof is the best cure, and the best prevention also, for leaky roofs. Its preservative oils soak deeply into the roof pores, strengthening the roofing fabric. The asbestos fibre content forms a tough new surface impervious to wind or weather.
We'll inspect your roof without charge. Your own men can do the coating or our expert roofers will do it for you at low cost.

It's Time to Think of Refrigerators
So It's Time to Think of "Challenge"

There's a big difference in refrigerators—that's why we urge you to inspect carefully the "Challenge" line.

Not only are we in position to give you a really superior refrigerator in the "Challenge" line but we put them in your home at a surprisingly low price.

We carry this line complete in all sizes and both in side and top icers.

Here Are a Few of the Many Points of Superiority in the "Challenge"

- The frames are of genuine solid white ash, which positively never absorbs the odors of foodstuffs from the inside.
- It is a wonderful ice-saver, and will soon pay for itself in this particular item alone.
- Is so constructed that there is perfect interior ventilation at all times, which prevents contamination of foods and meats, musty odors.
- The "Challenge" drainage system insures a cold, dry atmosphere so necessary to proper refrigeration.
- All interior parts are easily removable, which makes cleaning easy and simple.
- Come in and let us demonstrate this very fine, yet moderately priced, "Challenge" refrigerator.

SHORT SHAVINGS

SOME GIRLS ARE MIGHTY PARTICULAR ABOUT WHOM THEY WILL MARRY UNTIL SOMEBODY ASKS THEM

Education First Hand
"Where do your children learn all their bad language?"
"We live near the income tax collector's office."

There are enough crises on hand to worry us to death if we hadn't lost interest in them.

Strong Resistance
"Why do you say she has the hardest heart of any girl you've ever known?"
"Because it took a diamond to make an impression on it."

He Was Prepared
HE—My dear, it's no use for you to look at those hats. I haven't more than a dollar in my pocket.
SHE—You might have known when we came out that I'd want to buy a few things.
HE—I did.

"Eat onions in the winter," says a doctor. Then, if you are lost in a fog, your friends will soon find you.

A Poor Bargain
BOBBY—Mamma, did you buy me from the store?
MAMA—Yes, dearie, why do you ask?
BOBBY—Oh, I've often wondered why you didn't pay a few more dollars and pick out a little boy without freckles.

Turkey has a prohibition law and its president gets $450,000 a year. That's the place for Mr. Bryan to go and run for president.

He'll Keep the First FARMER—Be this the Woman's Exchange.
WOMAN—Yes.
FARMER—Be ye the woman?
WOMAN—Yes.
FARMER—Well, then, I think I'll keep Maggie.

Oh, Quit Knocking the Ladies!
"Someone ought to tell him," said William Tarr.
"A mirror that'll show us what fools we are."
"If such a thing you want," replied John Kniffe.
"All that you need to do is get a wife."

Easy to Find Him Now
"Can you give me a good description of your absconding cashier?"
"Well," replied the hotel proprietor, "I believe he's about five feet five inches tall and about seven thousand dollars short."

Girls would dress sensibly if men were not insensible to sensible things.

ABE MARTIN

On Journalism

TEACHIN' TH' GENTLE ART O' JOURNALISM

Hon. ex-editor Cale Fluhart addressed the class in journalism at Apple Grove school house, today, and said in full as follows:

If you wish to reach the foremost ranks in the noble profession of journalism, I admonish you to heed well the advice of one who fought hard and turned gray in the game of moulding the public mind. Stick to the followers' hard and fast rules and you're bound to succeed beyond the dreams of avarice, or I may say cupidty.

Beware of split infinitives and polluted adverbs.

Never use a short & in mentionin' Mr. and Mrs. So and So.

Never use the expression "loss of valuable jewels," unless they're worth over $15.

Never say someone wuz fatally hurt unless they're goin' to die.

Never permit a person to suicide. Say they "committed suicide," unless the wife is suspected.

Never leave anything to the imagination, for imaginations are few and widely scattered.

Never say a man returned to his place of business. Say, rather, that he returned to the place where he conducts business when there is any.

Never use the expression, "wins fair bride," unless the bride is fair, and there has been a lively scramble for her.

Never color news. It's cheating just the same as wearin' a toupee or dyin' a mustache.

In writin' up elopements and accidents, allude to sure to spell the women folks' names correctly, for nothin' makes 'em madder than havin' their names spelled up.

In reportin' a fire, remember buildin's have no guts and that flames never belch.

Beware of overworkin' "charmip" hostesses.

Never speak of a groom bein' "handsome" when he's fer from it. It makes the reader lose confidence in the rest of the weddin' notice.

Don't gush in cold type, and be careful about referin' to ever' farmer as bein' "prominent and widely known." Nobuddy kin farm and be very prominent, or very widely known. Th' very nature of his callin' heads that all off.

Never refer to a bride as bein' "radiant" unless her father is an advertiser.

"Beautiful and accomplished" means much, so use the expression sparingly lest you turn somebody's head.

Remember it takes a purty big upheaval to really "shock the community."

Remember nothin' lower than the U. S. Supreme Court ever hands down anything.

Be chary in use of college titles, for ther's both professors and instructors, and they differ widely.

Never say "present incumbent" or "free gratis."

In reportin' a race between an automobile and an express train never say a feller "had his legs cut off," as the victim knew nothin' o' the operation till he wuz gathered up.

Never say somebody has "accepted a lucrative position," when he's really finally landed a job.

Helpful Advice to Overworked Women

MRS. C. E. CHAPMAN
1020 ELM ST. NEW ALBANY, IND.

DAY in and day out, week in and week out the tired, overworked housewife and mother toils on, sweeping, dusting, cooking, cleaning and mending. Is it any wonder that after a time a weakness, such as Mrs. Chapman had, develops and the wife and mother pays a toll in physical weakness and pain for her efforts of love, the natural result of overwork?

Women who find themselves afflicted with weakness, pain, headaches, backache, nervousness, irritability and melancholia will be interested in Mrs. Chapman's letter, and should realize that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is especially adapted to overcome such conditions.

Mrs. Chapman's Letter Reads as Follows:

NEW ALBANY, IND.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a weakness which many women have from overwork, and from which I suffered for quite a while. I wasn't fit to do my work and my sister advised me to take this medicine. After the first few days the pains were not so severe as they had been and after taking a few bottles I am now bothered any more. I am doing my housework every day and highly recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman suffering from female trouble. Only yesterday a friend called me on the phone and knowing what it did for me wanted to know what to ask for at the drug-store, as she meant to give it a trial."—MRS. C. E. CHAPMAN, 1320 Elm Street, New Albany, Indiana.

Another Case of Nervous Breakdown

MEMPHIS, TENN.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting, I could not do any of my work except a little at a time and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw a little book on to my porch and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I went right out and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—MRS. O. J. HINCKLEY, 417 1/2 E. Georgia St., Memphis, Tenn.
